As we walked through the doors of JC in September, a new phase of each of our lives began. From the very beginning we chose the course our own lives would take. Those individual courses would in turn help shape this school year. Although we are all unique individuals, we are a part of the entire student body. Therefore the success of this year or the failure of it depends upon our own actions and our values. Likewise, the success or the failure of our lives depends upon our actions and values. We each have life, whether or not we live it to the fullest depends upon us as individuals.

“Here Is My Life”

Lord, You placed me in this world of time and space and missiles hurled,
With eyes I've seen the ghetto gloom,
With ears I've heard the sonic
boom,
And man cry out for breathing room.

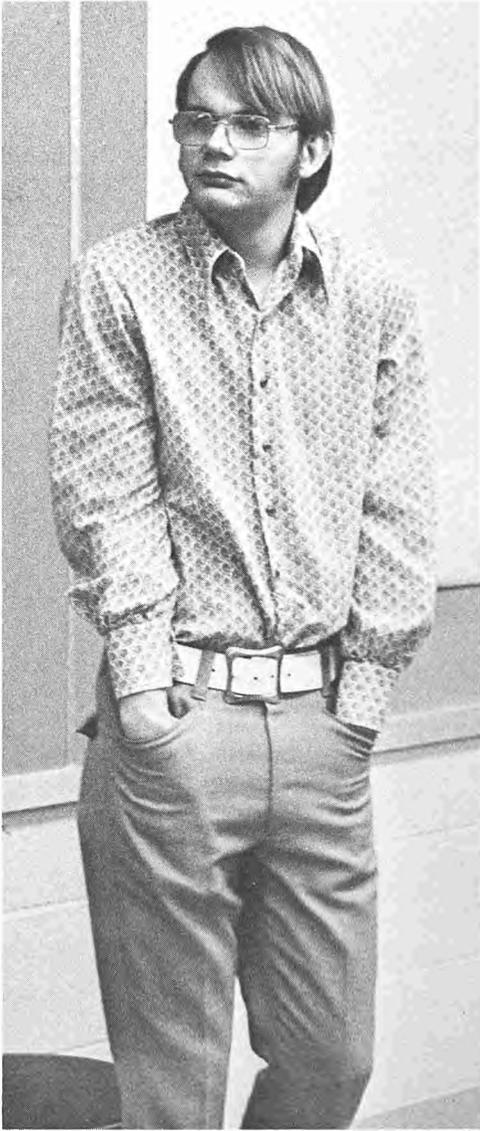

I cannot wait, I cannot wait,
Here is my life, I want to live it,
Here is my life, I want to give it,
serving my fellow man,
Here is my life, Here is my life.

Lord, You asked for all my life in healing hurts and ending strife,
With mind to always seek the truth,
With voice to always speak the truth,
And live to manifest Your worth.

I cannot wait, I cannot wait,
Here is my life, I want to live it,
Here is my life, I want to give it serving my fellow man,
Here is my life, Here is my life,
HERE IS MY LIFE . . .

ACTIVITIES

Jay Spirit conquers Friday 13th superstitions

Are Jays superstitious? Maybe just a little. That's why when Homecoming fell on Friday the 13th, JC went all out to beat the myths as well as the Pirates with the counter-superstitious theme, "Jasper Jay's Lucky Day". Traditions maintained this year included court attendants Jeen Harrison and Jonalee Young (RIGHT) riding in the parade and the bonfire Thursday night (BELOW RIGHT). Kay Stark (BELOW) is in keeping with the spoof on luck with her black cat costume.

Everyone is kept busy before homecoming. Early practices, kleenex flowers, collecting boxes and unfinished homework go into making a memorable homecoming.

The bonfire was held on a hillside across from the school. The box crew arranged the boxes in the form of a 'J'. Although it was a wet night, JC students came out in full force.

Homecoming queen, Stephanie Clardy, was crowned by Terry Nienaber during the assembly. "If" was sung by John Wright honoring the queen and her court. The speakers were Charlie Brown, a former JC football player, Tim Holcomb, a youth director, and Joe Nichols, superintendent of schools. They talked about high school life. Mark Fischer was presented a tape player by the student body in honor of his birthday. The assembly was ended with a very spirited pep assembly led by the cheerleaders and Jayettes.

Jays sink the Pirates 35-6

Friday was filled with last minute touches to the floats. Jayettes and many enthusiastic JC students assembled at Freshman High for the parade. Returning to Freshman High, floats were torn down, except for the winning floats that were shown at the game.

It took many hours to put together a half-time show. The band played numbers including "Theme from Godfather". The band played while the Jayettes did dance steps to "With a Little Bit of Luck" and a flag routine to "America".

The homecoming festivities ended with the dance in the cafeteria. The dance began after the game and continued until 1:00. Britannia provided music for the dance.

Fall play utilizes blackout technique

"Flowers for Algernon", the fall play was completely unique from past years' plays in the sense that no background was used. Unlike the elaborate backdrops traditionally used, the whole play was done in blackout fashion. Settings were dependent upon a few props, the imagination of the audience, and the creativity of the actors.

The story centers around Charlie, a mentally retarded young man who undergoes an operation by Dr. Strauss and Professor Nemer and becomes a genius. Charlie falls in love with his teacher, Alice, but his past haunts him whenever he is with her.

Charlie strongly identifies with Algernon, the lab mouse who underwent a similar operation. Charlie's progress is always compared to Algernon's. When Algernon returns to normal and dies, Charlie senses the same fate for himself.

Carols echo through Capitol Rotunda

Because of the weather, the 35th annual Capitol Caroling was held after being postponed for the first time in its history. Under the direction of Carl E. Burkel, the choirs, band, and orchestra highlighted the evening with two polychoral selections, "Te Deum Laudamus" by Hofer, and "Heilig" by Mendelssohn. Debbie Hubbs was the soloist for "Ave Maria," and backed by the Senior High Chorale, Linden Boyd sang "Hacia Benen Va Un Borrigo." Other people performing major roles in the program were Matt Jarrett the narrator and Gina Wooley the accompanist. The art department spent many hours preparing the decorations. Straw angels and garlands were suspended from the banister over a scarlet background. A straw nativity scene also accented the decorations.

Working the spotlight was one of Tim Gaines' responsibilities.

Prince Karl Franz, heir to the throne of Karlsberg, enrolls at the University of Heidelberg to live the carefree life of a student. Nothing could please Dr. Engel, his tutor, more than to show Karl Franz the Heidelberg remembered from his own youth.

Upon arrival at the inn, Karl Franz is warmly welcomed. He melts right into the student spirit and falls in love with Kathie, the head barmaid. Lutz, the Prince's valet, is shocked that the Prince should be so happy among the common people and reports his actions to Von Mark, the prime minister.

The Prince and Kathie plan to escape to Paris but their plans are shattered by the illness of the King. Karl Franz returns to Karlsberg and becomes King. He announces his engagement to Princess Stephanie, his fiancée since childhood. Haunted by memories, Karl Franz returns to Heidelberg as Kathie is leaving to marry her cousin in Vienna. In the final parting Karl Franz and Kathie realize that Heidelberg can be no more than a beautiful dream, always to be remembered.

Prince Karl Franz (Linden Boyd) is initiated into the Saxon Corps.

Two hundred participate in "The Student Prince"

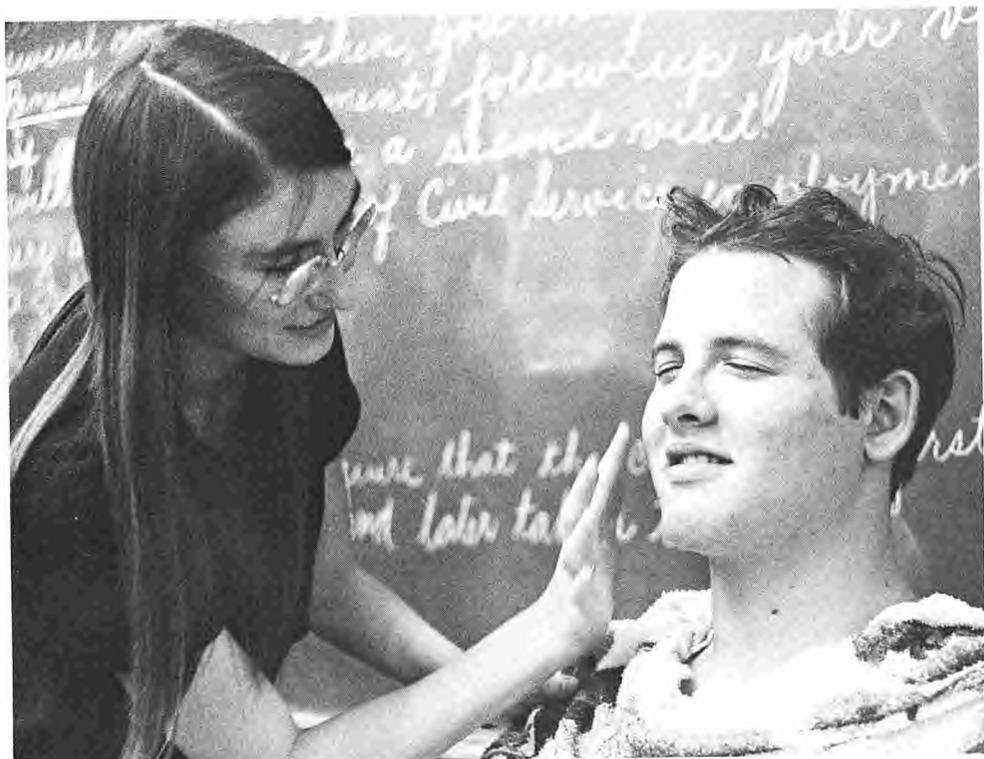

"The Student Prince" means ... competing with your best friends for the leads in try-outs ... rehearsals every day after school ... rushing to get the props and scenery done ... eating a hamburger at Mac's or a cold meal at home by yourself ... sleeping through lecture from staying up all night doing homework ... hoping that lady will get your costume finished ... wondering if you will ever convince anyone that you are a German barmaid or student ... praying that your make-up won't melt under all of the lights ... hoping that the stage hogs won't push you into the orchestra pit while trying to get to the front ... trying to control opening night jitters and fighting tears back on the closing night ... listening to the audience laugh at the funny lines while you try to keep a straight face ... a standing ovation on Saturday night ... and proud parents in the audience saying, "That's my baby up there on the stage."

Kathie (Debbie Hubbs) sings of her love for Karl Franz (Linden Boyd).

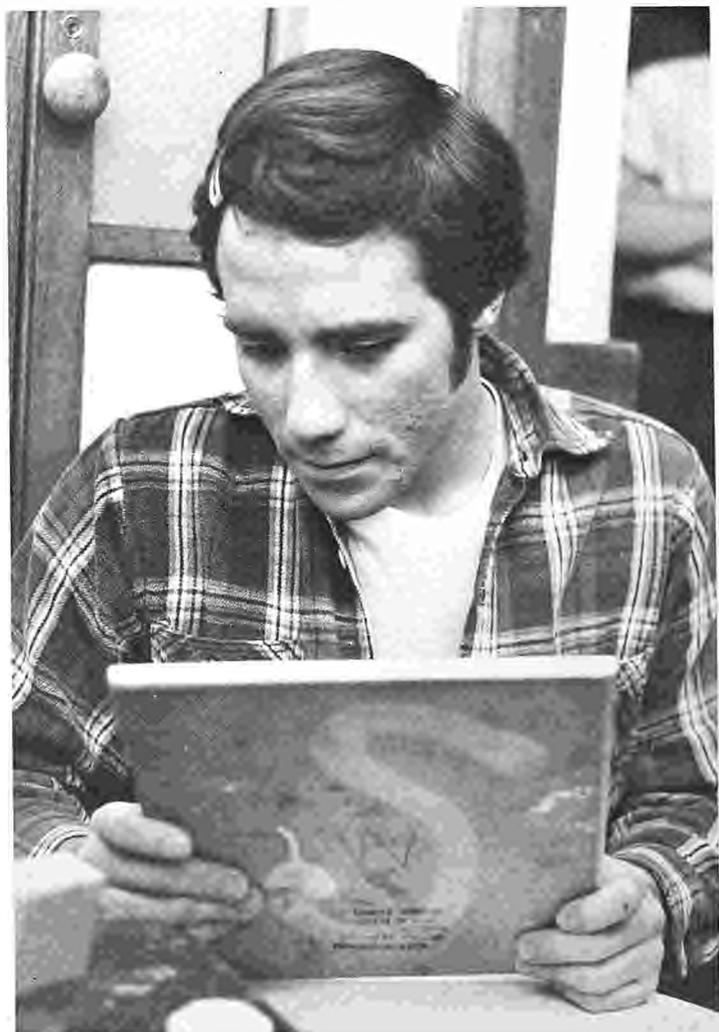

Lutz (Mark Perkins) states, "My lips are sealed mmmmm."

Backstage — hard work, little glamour

Onstage glamour from the costumes, acting, and music is usually what the audiences see and will remember, but the glitter does not suddenly appear opening night. It is the result of hours of sweat and hard labor.

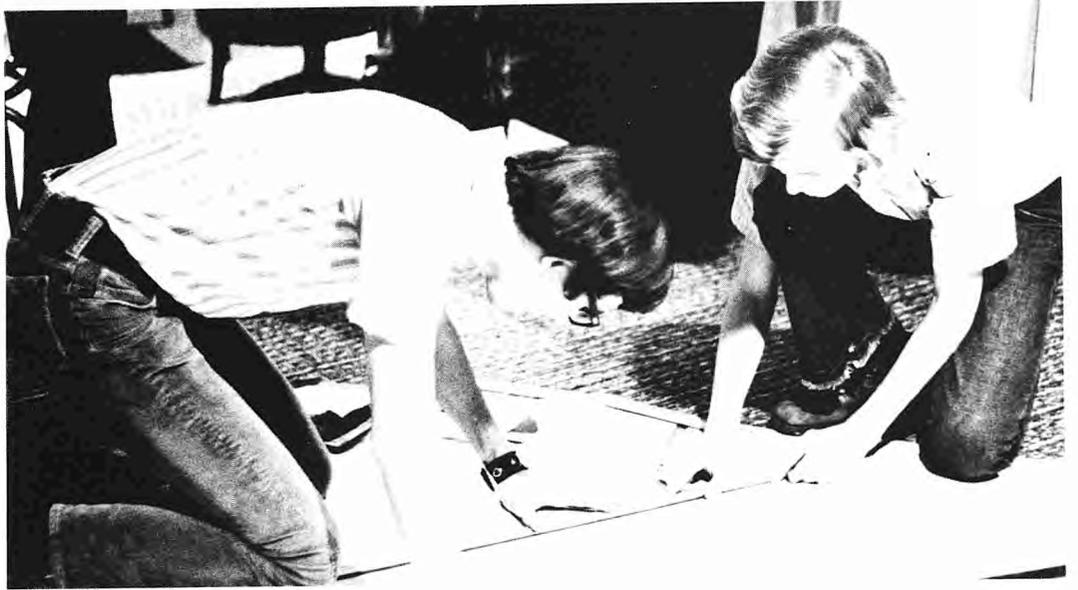

The scenery which transported spectators to Heidelberg was the effort of the stage craft class. As the curtain closed, prop changers swooped in to change the inn into a castle or ballroom. These kids had to know which props were needed and when. Stage managers called the actors in for their scenes. Stationed backstage was the rope crew who pulled the curtains and positioned backdrops. Spotlights and the sound equipment required the attentions of conscientious operators too.

All costuming had to be provided by the students themselves. This put many girls, mothers, and neighbors behind sewing machines. Home Ec students made the student's caps for the boys. Finalizing the transformation was the application of stage make-up which was done by another committee of students.

"The Student Prince" didn't just involve the learning of lines and music — it was the product of many unseen and unrecognized people.

“Roy, haven't you had enough?”

Summer breezes blew into JC's gym May 5. The theme and decorations for the Junior-Senior Prom were planned by the Junior class. With the music provided by Colonel Binjoe, the couples danced around a gazebo in the center of the gym. Two parachutes hung from the ceiling accenting the center decorations. Each Senior and his or her date marched through a multi-colored rainbow as the band played the theme song:

“Summer breeze makes me feel fine, blowing through the jasmine of my mind . . . ” by Seals & Croft.

Marcullus Queen Reigns over Spring Concert

On Tuesday, May 8, Stephanie Clardy was crowned 1973 Marcullus Queen. Members of the Court were: Denise Keith, Michelle Thomas, Amy Walz, and Jonalee Young. Selections from "The Student Prince" were sung by the Chorale during the processional. The choir sang such songs as "Rainsong", "Deep River", and "Waters Ripple and Flow" in honor of Queen Stephanie. The Court was presented to the student body in an assembly the following morning.

Ptolemy (Matt Jarrett) reveals the mysteries of planetary forces as a Virgo (Janet Smiley) demonstrates their influence on her personality.

Players present "You Were Born on a Rotten Day"

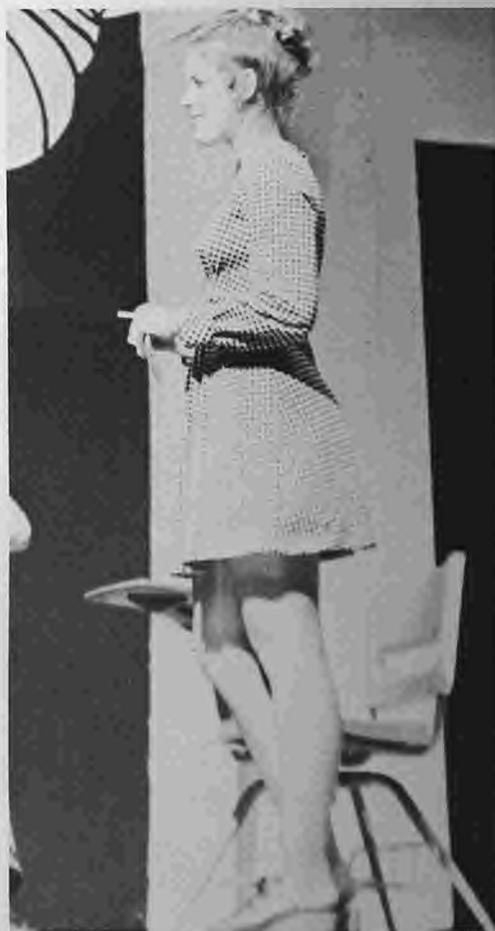

At Ptolemy's declarations, Arthur Huxley (Mike Finney) argues and Coach Burt Bascom (Dennis LoPiccolo) and Cyrus Banks (Mark Perkins) express their disgust.

Frustrated Claude P. Jones, a physics teacher, is fighting a losing battle. All financial grants, as well as the pretty Miss Johnson's attentions, go to Burt Bascom's athletic department. And to top all, the students' interest in astrological fantasy threatens to take over his classes. In a fit of desperation he makes a wild prediction as Ptolemy, an astrologer. His problems are multiplied when his prediction becomes true. His second prediction to discredit astrology is realized and his attempts to calm the furor are defeated. Mr. Jones saves the day and wins Agatha by making an appearance as Ptolemy and dramatically warning against the dangers of ignorance of scientific fact.

Agatha (Katie Appleton) and Mr. Jones (Matt Jarrett) decide that science and literature are compatible after all.

Yvonne Smith (Anne Jarrett), Mr. Jones' student teacher, teaches Newton's third law to her class.

ORGANIZATIONS

AFS hosts State Convention

The American Field Service presents an opportunity for students at J C to gain knowledge and international understanding of foreign countries and their people. AFS students and their American hosts from across Missouri gathered at the annual State Convention, hosted by J C, to become acquainted and exchange ideas. Later in the year, students met Meik Verworpt, an exchange student from Belgium, staying in Versailles, Missouri, who spent a week visiting J C.

Various activities of AFS included a bowling party at Westgate Lanes and several picnics, including a summer welcome picnic at Riverside Park for J C's exchange student, Amélie Stucke.

AFS Share Day, held early in April, was kicked off by an assembly to explain the purpose of shares. By buying 25¢ shares, the entire student body helps sponsor next year's AFS student. About 1200 students participated in Share Day, as $302.90 was collected.

Students said farewell to Amélie at a covered dish picnic held in May. J C hopes the farewell is only in words, as both Amélie and J C students have many thoughts and memories to treasure of this year.

Amélie Spends a Year at JC

With her bright, inquisitive eyes, freckles, and always smiling face, Annerosel Charlotte Gisela Amélie Stucke arrived from Osnabrück, Germany, to become JC's foreign exchange student for 1972-73.

Comparing her life in the United States to that of her homeland, Amélie admits that the family life is about the same. "The Americans are more active with clubs, parties, etc., while the German people are more relaxed and the families are together more."

"Our education system is different in that we don't choose our own classes. Boys and girls don't attend the same school nor do we eat lunch at school. We don't drive to school, because we can't get our license until we are 18."

After leaving JC, Amélie will attend one more year of school in Germany to graduate and be eligible to attend college.

Amélie became very active in AFS, Art Club, Jayettes, Science Club, Student Council, and Homecoming activities. RIGHT, Amélie and her American sister, Susie Bregant, discuss plans for the family skiing trip to Colorado.

Art Club contributes to Sheltered Workshop

Art Club was involved in many activities this year. One of the main projects was making posters for the Sheltered Workshop drive. They also held a faculty Christmas party and sold paintings and crafts which they made in the Christmas Boutique. The Street Fair and Exhibit gave members another opportunity to sell and display their work.

Pom-Pon girls are new edition to band

The Pom-Pon girls were a new edition to the band this year. They performed at football games, led the band, along with the majorettes, in parades, did routines for pep assemblies, and performed at some basketball games. This year's head Pom-pon girl was Janis Scheperle.

The spirit that was expressed musically was brought by J C's Pep Band. The 24 members played at away football games and home basketball games.

Marching Jays march in Florida

Every three years, the J C Band takes an extensive trip. This year's trip was to the southwestern part of the United States. One hundred ninety members of the band performed at St. Augustine in a parade and later at Disney World with the Disney World Characters. Chicago, Osage Beach (TanTara), University City, and Springfield were some of the places where the world was able to see and enjoy the sounds of JC's Jazz Band. At Springfield, the Jazz Band participated in the Battlefield Jazz Festival at SMS and won first in the class L division of JAZZ. JC's Jazz Band, having a reputation of being one of the best bands of the Midwest, has received many invitations to be the guest band during the 1972-73 school year.

Lab Band, the varsity band of the Jazz selection, consisted of 21 members this year. They were invited to compete in the Lebanon Jazz Festival where they placed first in the Second Band division.

Choir Ushers in Easter

Mr. Burkel always seems to pull magical notes from his choirs. This year was no exception. Starting off the year, the choir sang at Veterans' Day ceremonies at the Capitol and the Thanksgiving assembly. Capitol Caroling and "The Student Prince" highlighted the year for many members. The Easter season was enhanced by the choir performance at the Baptist Church. The courtyard was the setting for the spring concert, which was the last time all members sang together in the 1972-73 school year. A picnic ended the year for the seniors, and the underclassmen sang for Baccalaureate.

Chorale performs at the School of the Ozarks

On May 15, the Chorale traveled to the School of the Ozarks, where they performed in the chapel. Afterwards the school entertained them. They had a chance to swim in the new Olympic-size swimming pool, and to tour the theater, in which a new theater organ had just been installed.

During the year, Chorale gave many performances including the State Convention of Women's Clubs, Trinity Lutheran Women's Auxiliary, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and Employment Security. They made a tape on KRCG-TV for Christmas and had a Christmas Chorale assembly.

The spring performances included a concert for Helias, concerts for all of the elementary schools, and Ramada Inn Convention of Knights Templers.

Included among the many Chorale performances was a Christmas concert at the Governor's Mansion.

The Chorale combined with the other choirs for the spring concert.

COE offers job opportunities

Retailing, marketing, and selling are a few of the occupations studied by students in the Cooperative Distributive Education department of COE. Here they gain a foundation for jobs involved with distribution. Many students in this phase of the COE program hold jobs in local stores where they can put to practice skills they have learned in class.

COE holds banquet for employers

COE as a club has become involved in several school activities this year. To start the year they entered a float in the Homecoming parade. They've also had a bowling party, a bar-b-que, and a banquet for their employers. They ended the year with a trip to Six Flags Over Texas.

COE prepares students for the future

Trade and industrial jobs make up the other phase of COE. Students in this department are trained for jobs ranging from auto mechanics and library work to nursing and dental assistants. They also learn about labor laws, taxes, social security, and money management. On the whole, the COE program provides a sound background for full-time employment or enrollment in a technical school.

Debate hosts first annual speech and debate tournament

By hosting a speech and debate tournament involving fifteen state schools, the J C Debate Squad started a new tradition. The tournament included competition in oral interpretation, impromptu speeches, and debates.

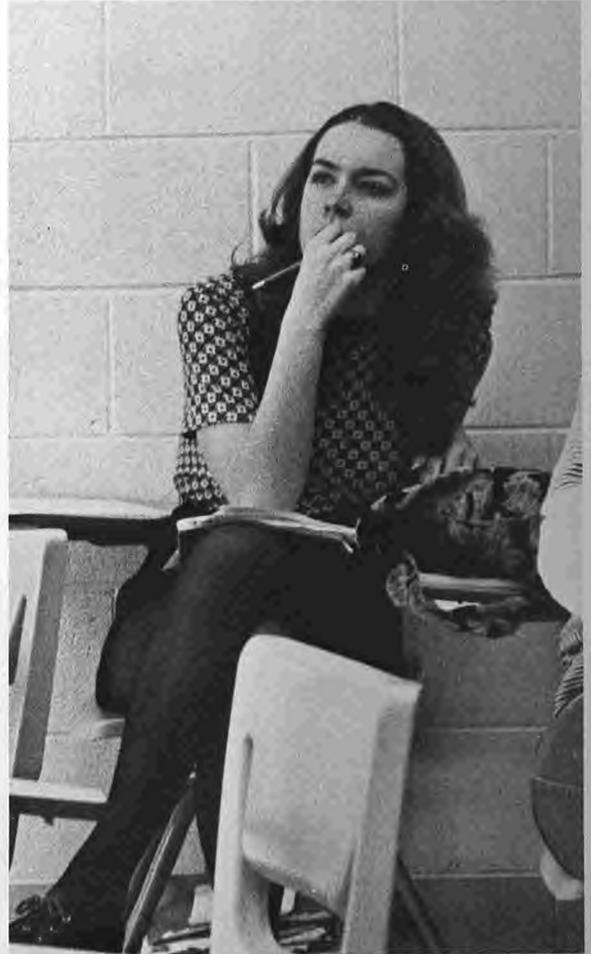

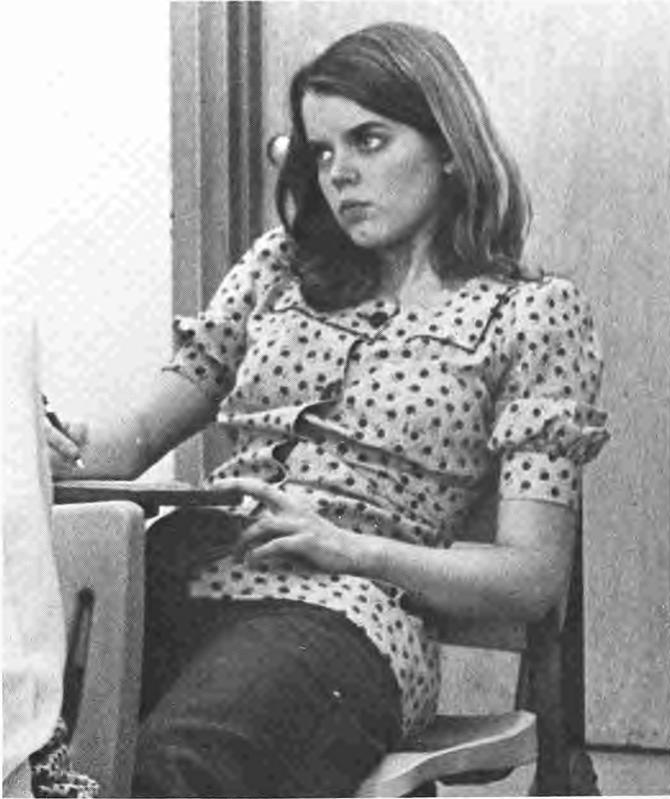

Experience in debating and individual performance events was brought about in fifteen speech and debate tournaments. The debaters proved to be effective competitors at these tournaments by winning 32 trophies.

The Debate Squad also participated in the National Forensic League (honorary forensic and debate organization) Student Congress for the first time. The Congress is a model legislature discussing and debating topics of national interest and concern.

FBLA sells stationery

Starting the busy year, FBLA members sold stationery in order to finance a trip to St. Louis. Anyone who sold $12.00 worth of stationery could go to St. Louis free. In St. Louis they visited Pet Milk Company and Monsanto Company.

In March, 15 members went to a district meet in Moberly. They competed against five other schools in various business areas. Linda Hamacher, Mark Woodson, Kaye Stark, Debbie Antweiler, Allen Gearhart, Joy Stock, and Kathy Dunavant placed in these events.

FHA visits modeling school

Members of the Future Homemakers of America and their families benefited this year as the club carried out the year's theme of personal, family, and self-improvement. The girls gained knowledge in personal grooming while on their spring trip to the Patricia Stevens School of Charm and Modeling in St. Louis. Shopping at Famous-Barr and a tour of Goodwill Industries completed the trip. Many people in the community profited as FHA participated in the walk-a-thon for the nationwide March of Dimes campaign held late in March.

French Club presents Mardi Gras

French Club's first project was Homecoming. This year's float was entitled "Jasper's Winning Hand." A few weeks later, in November, the new French Club members were initiated.

Celebrating Christmas started on December 12th with the club singing French Christmas carols at the Woodcrest Nursing Home. A grab bag was the main attraction at the Christmas dinner.

On March 13th came the one and only Mardi Gras. Held in the school cafeteria, it provided fun and games for all who attended.

GAA visits Arrow Head Stadium

The challenge of competition and an enthusiasm for sports have brought 125 girls together in the Girls Athletic Association this year. After starting the year by building a Homecoming float they took their talents to the gym for a year of fun and variety. Volleyball, basketball, rollerskating, and bowling were only a few of their activities. They ended the year with a spring trip which included horse-back riding and a tour of Arrow Head Stadium.

Honor Society taps scholars

Scholarship, service, character, and leadership were among the qualities considered in the December initiation of 30 new juniors and seniors into the Senior High Chapter of the National Honor Society. A reception for the initiates and their parents followed the assembly.

Members raised funds for the organization by selling placemats and scenic Missouri notecards. Representatives of the JC chapter attended the State Convention held in Maryville. Honor Society officers participated in the March initiation of freshmen into the National Junior Honor Society. More juniors took the Honor Society pledge at the spring banquet which concluded the activities for the year.

Go . . . Fight . . . Win . . . Jays!

Spirited cheerleaders, half asleep dancers, and freezing weather tell of only a part of Jayettes. Over 450 girls donned new skirts, bobby socks and saddles, and made their way to field and court to cheer on victorious Jays. At Homecoming, in true JC tradition, they lent their talents to performing a half-time show which, with the help of the band, they seemed to pull off to the satisfaction of all who watched. Serving at sports banquets and making signs to cheer them on, make Jayettes an organization hard to forget.

Jayettes back Jays

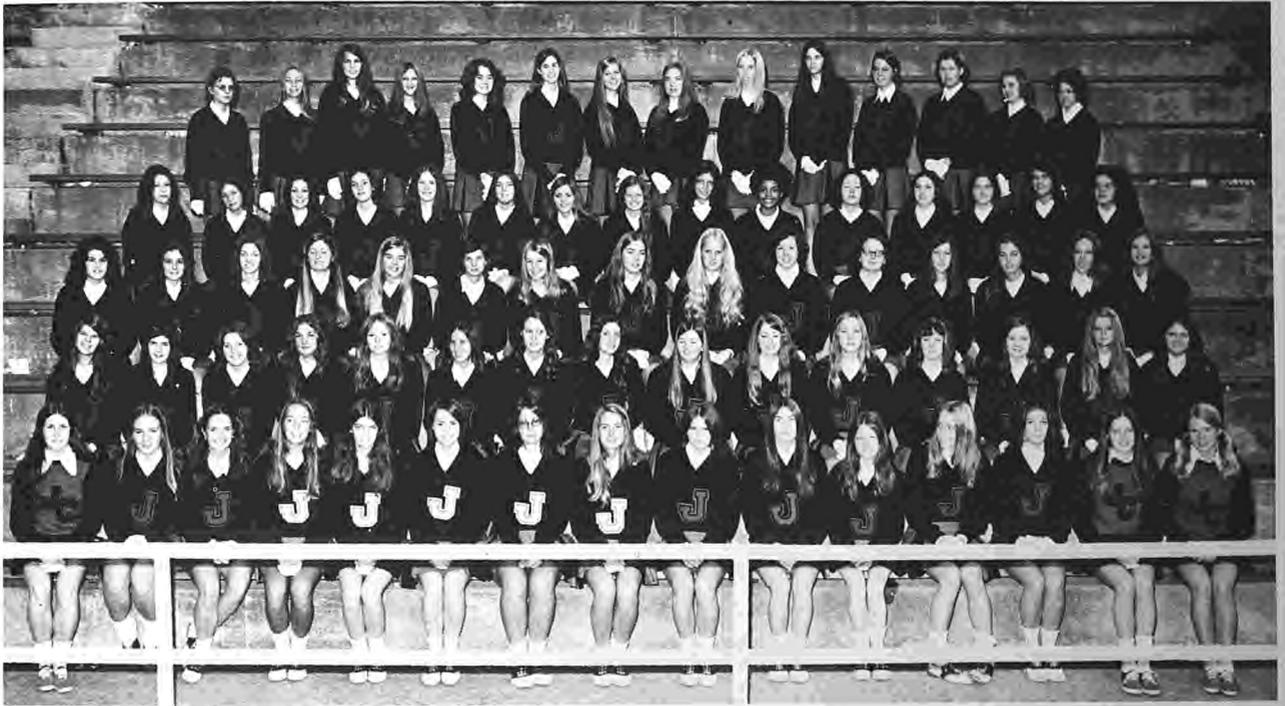

In the 1972-73 school year, Jayettes brought new trends to JC such as Red & Black pleated skirts and Jayettes going to wrestling meets. Since wrestling has become a main sport at JC, Jayettes now receive a merit for attending a meet.

Jayettes served at football and basketball banquets, decorated the halls with signs, and added spirit to the Mighty Jays. Jayettes ended their year with a picnic at McClung Park in the spring.

J C Players' productions require much preparation

Dress rehearsals ... searching for properties ... squeezing into costumes ... groping for time ... screaming ... crying ... projecting ... laughing ... seating ... lighting ... painting ... forgetting ... smearing ... helping ... goofing ... swearing ... butterflies ... characterize the J C Players.

J C Players was a working organization which produced two major productions in the 1972-73 school year: the tragic Flowers for Algernon and the humorous You Were Born on a Rotten Day. In addition they participated in Evening of Drama, the operetta, and provided the lighting and sound in assemblies and Capitol Caroling.

To be an active member in J C Players one must earn thirty merits per semester. Members earned these merits by working in the following areas: service projects, onstage, backstage, speech tournaments, and committees which include publicity, activities, ushers, costumes, make-up, technical crew, and properties.

Thespians learn by doing

Learning by doing is how Thespians attained knowledge of the theater and its functions. This was accomplished by participating in "Flower's for Algernon," "You Were Born on a Rotten Day," and several speech tournaments. The organization also conducted Evening of Drama which involved four one-act plays, including directing, casting, rehearsals, publicity, and acting.

Latin Club holds many activities

Mr. Farris, sponsor, led Latin Club through an involved year at JC. The weeks of hard work preceding Homecoming proved rewarding, as they took first place in the motorized float division. An initiation of fifty-three members was held in November.

Latin Christmas posters were made and placed around JC. For Valentine's Day members created original valentines for patients at St. Mary's Hospital. Other activities included bowling, a trip to Columbia, and the Spring Banquet.

Another highlight of the year was a victory over J.C. Players in the "High School Bowl." A panel from each club answered questions covering subjects from math to history. The Wier's Creek Bottom Band entertained during the event.

Lettermen honor Coach Jan

"Coach Jan knew his players, what they felt, and what they needed," stated Brad Bodamer. "He could respond, and get us up for a game. He was good at that."

Coach Jankowski was good at other things also. For fifteen years, Coach Jan took the back seat during football season. Each game, he climbed the steps to the press box to report back to the field on the situation of the game. During practice he coached the linemen. Their record speaks for itself.

Because Coach Jan is retiring from football, the lettermen chose to give this page to a man who has quietly given of his talents to the athletic department of J.C.

Library Club sponsors State Convention

Opening membership to any student in Senior High Library Club is an organization for those who are interested in the library. Through their programs, members of the Library Club learned how to use the library materials and shared this information with others.

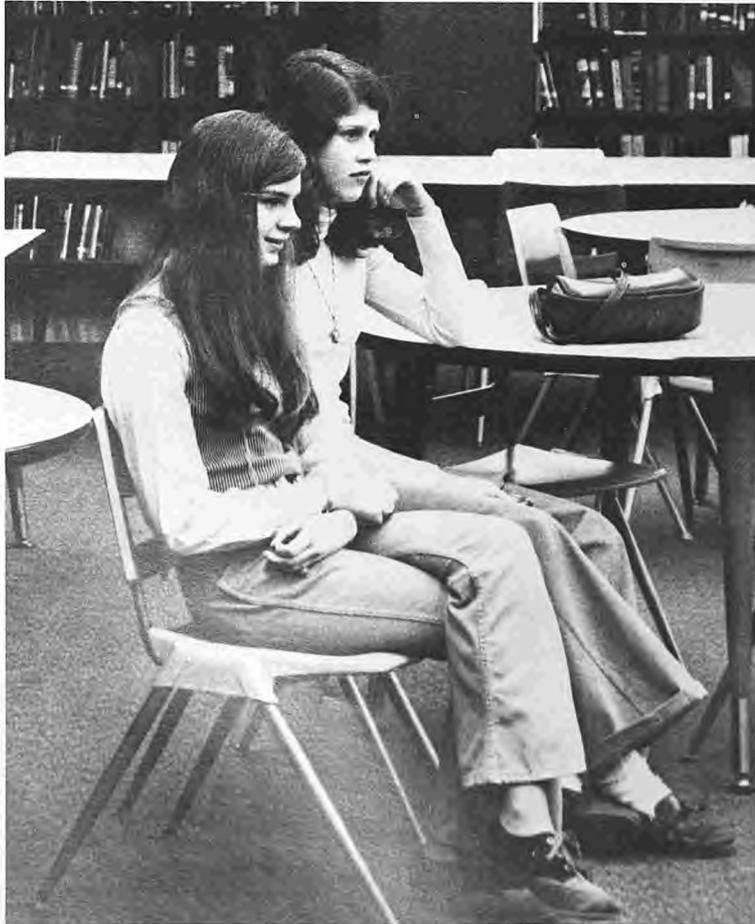

Activities for the year included a book talk program, audio visual program, and a Halloween party. Library Club also sponsored a convention of state library clubs.

Preparation and organization make 1973 Marcullus

Preparation for this book began in the spring of 1972. Gary trained the prospective photographer in all aspects of photography. During the summer initial plans were laid. The first semester the staff sold advertising to help finance the book. Staff members worked concessions and sponsored the First Gear concert in order to raise money.

The first few weeks of second semester were spent adjusting to a hectic sixth hour class. At that time each student began cropping "pixs", writing copy, identifying students, and drawing up layouts for his individual staff. Associate editors were: Patty Winget, Activities and Sports; Linda Sanders, Academics; Cindy Lochhead, Business; Christie Truesdell, Students; and Mary Elliott, Organizations. Each editor guided her staff in the fundamentals of producing a yearbook.

Although each staff was responsible for its pages, the entire staff took orders for the Marcullus in February. For the All-School Carnival the staff sponsored a graffiti wall. Excess pictures were sold to the students. At the end of school the staff celebrated with a picnic.

"Liz Holt, if you yell at me one more time, I'll scream."

Marcullus carries on tradition from 1912

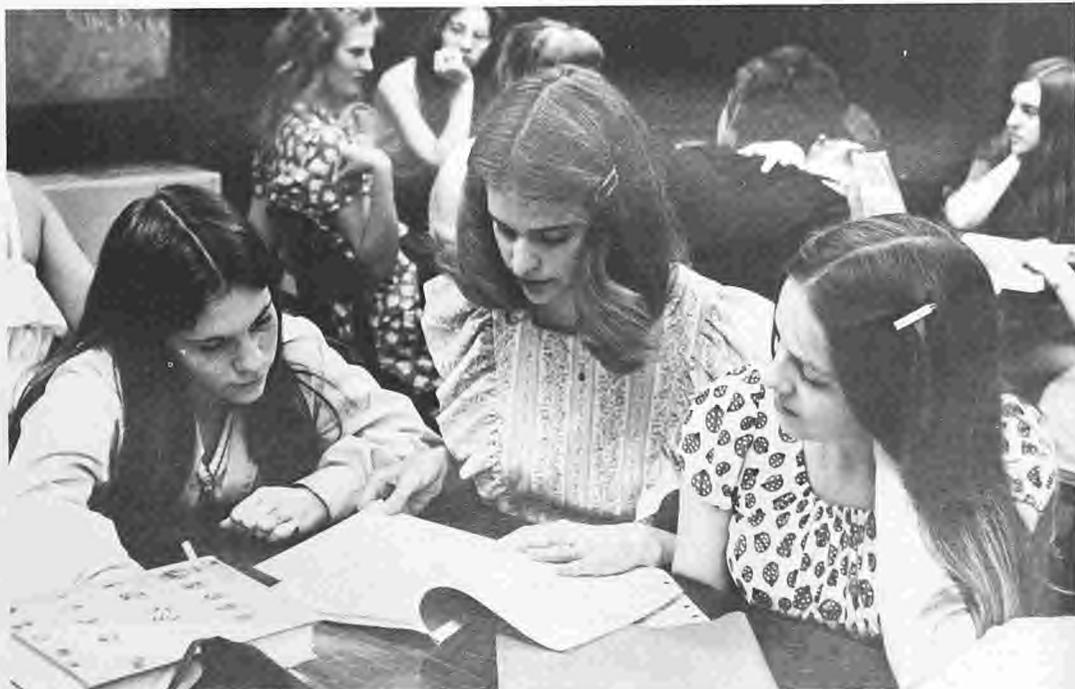

We laughed, we cried, we yelled, and we fought. Pictures were never taken or they just didn't turn out. Copy had to be edited or completely rewritten. Layouts were incorrect. Pictures were not cropped properly. Ads didn't get sold.

Through all of the frustrations and mess of producing the 1973 Marcullus, our goal was similar to the tradition started in 1912 when the book was named Marcullus, which means little hammer in Latin. The editor at that time wanted to convey the feeling through his book that high school is a tool to be used as a stepping stone for our future life and a way of hammering out a place for us. We hope in some way to have captured the significance of this year through the Marcullus.

Math Club has speakers

To promote knowledge of mathematics, learn to perfect mathematical skills, and give service to the school and community, were the main objectives of the math club this year.

In doing this, Mr. Gentile, the sponsor this year, scheduled speakers at several of the meetings. These speakers talked on engineering and mathematical puzzles.

Orchestra performs for Convention

Building an appreciation for classical music is the main goal JC's orchestra has set for this year. Directed by Don Gentzsch, they have played at Capital Caroling, the Marcellus Coronation, and at assemblies for several grade schools. They have also given several formal concerts for the public and are trying to promote interest in classical music to the public and younger musicians.

Political Science Club visits capital

Quill and Scroll initiates outstanding Journalists

During a candlelight ceremony, thirty-two students were initiated into Quill and Scroll. After several brief speeches explaining the role of high school journalists, Mrs. Lawrance Giffen spoke to the initiates and their parents. A reception was held afterwards. In the spring, a formal banquet was held for Quill and Scroll members. At this time, outstanding newspaper and yearbook students were recognized. Journalism students brave hectic year

Selling ads ... late copy ... printer's mistakes ... pasting up dummies ... 15¢ for an issue ... the first foldout ... writing headlines ... taking pictures ... freezing cold Wednesday mornings ... the Christmas party ... eating out a lot ... disagreements ... but a lot of fun went into producing this year's Red and Black.

Red and Black makes All-American

Unlike most other classes the Red and Black staff began meeting in August. Plans were made, articles written, pictures taken, ads sold, and pages laid out in order to have the first issue ready for distribution the second day of school.

Every two weeks a regular issue was sold. A Homecoming Magazine, Christmas Magazine, and Memory Magazine, as well as special spirit issues, were sold by the staff members.

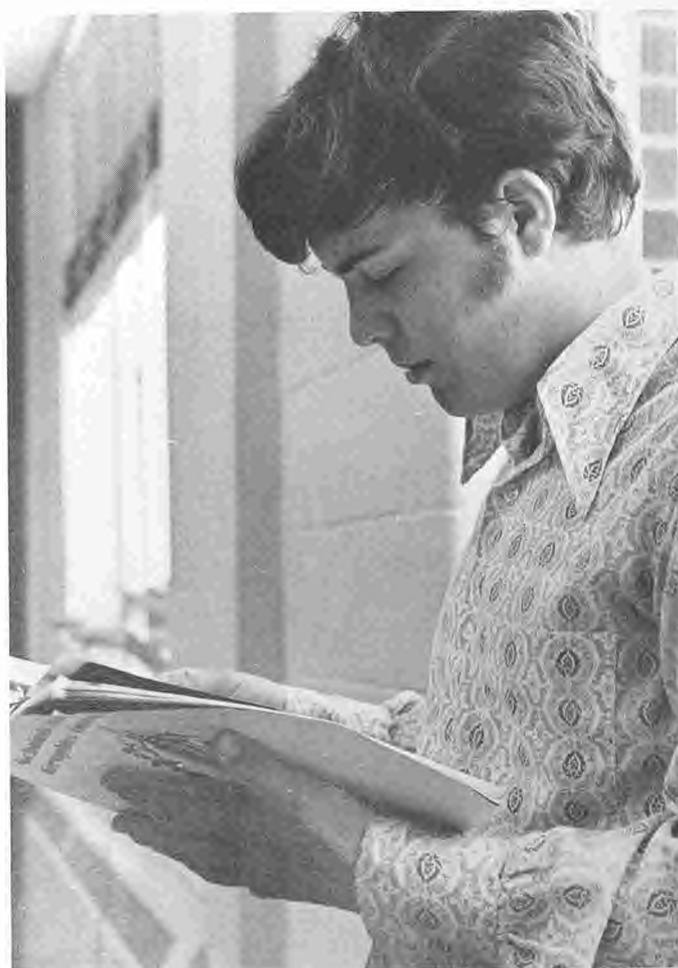

In order to make these publications a reality the staff, made up of Seniors and Mrs. "B", began preparation for the next issue the day after the previous one was sold. Page editors drew up the pages and assigned articles. Ads were designed and sold. Students wrote their specific articles. The photographers took, developed, and printed pictures. On Sunday the editors met and pasted up the dummies. Monday the paper was sent to press. Bright and early Wednesday morning staff members gathered to sell the All-American paper.

Cadet Staff Appoints First Junior Commander

In 1969 ROTC training was opened to Freshmen. As three years of training during high school is offered, few Seniors are in ROTC. This year two Juniors, Robert Glaser and Allen Uptegrove, acted as commanders.

During each home football and basketball game, members of ROTC presented the colors. They also had a flag ceremony at the beginning of each assembly. The cadets were in charge of raising the colors each day before school.

In the fall the cadets visited Whitman Air Force

Base, where they saw the minute man missile. During the spring the ROTC members visited Scott Air Force Base. There the cadets took a tour and viewed the many aircraft used by the U.S. Air Force. The Cadet Drill Team also won second place in the State-Wide drill competition, which was held at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

The Awards Night honored many cadets for academic and extra curricular activities. They ended the year with a picnic at Riverside Park.

Cadets and their dates, along with Student Council officers and their dates, danced to music provided by Black and White Haze. Guest speakers, a Christmas party, and Homecoming float were included in the club's activities. Science Club rounded out the year by collecting for the Multiple Sclerosis Drive held in March.

Members welcomed Homecoming by selling red and black balloons and winning first place in club competition with their float, "Jays Don't Need Luck to Beat Pirates."

For Thanksgiving, members of the Spanish Honor Society were initiated at Cathy Monaco's home. A buffet dinner was held afterwards. At the beginning of second semester, a Spanish pot luck dinner was held.

STUCO initiates "Potty Patrol"

"You are unique," was the theme this year for Student Council. Individuals were encouraged to put their talents together during Go Week and the "Election 72". Later, hobby clubs were started for those who hadn't expressed their talents yet.

Student Council started the traditional Homecoming with a presentation of a cassette and a cake to Mark Fischer. Money collected for the Thanksgiving Project was donated to the Emergency Fund. The Christmas decorations and dance brought the Student Council's job to a close for 1972.

SPORTS

Jays succeed with wishbone

August 15 is when it all began. For the next three weeks the Jay football team endured 2 grueling practices a day. In all, they had almost 200 practice hours, which were put to the test for only 7 hours of actual playing time. Their effort was worthwhile as shown by their 8 wins and 1 loss record. This year's conversion to the wishbone offense proved to be effective and complicated to defend. The Jefferson City powerhouse posted victories against some of the toughest competition in the St. Louis area — Cahokia, CBC, and Granite City. Their only loss was to Columbia. The Jay's strength was exemplified by 263 points to their opponents 45 for the season point total.

Senior leadership shines throughout year

"Going unscored on for the first three games would certainly be one of the highlights of the season," remarked Coach Adkins. This was primarily a senior team and their leadership showed through the entire year."

Cross-Country fares well in first year at JC

Coach Larry York led his cross-country team to the CMC Championship in only its first season at JC. The "harriers" took the title away from the defending champs, the Sedalia Smith-Cotton Tigers.

Cross-country is a sport which combines speed and endurance into a race across unlevel terrain. Points are scored for each seven-man team when the first five runners from the team finish. Runners are awarded points according to their position. For example, the winner scores one point, the second-place man scores two points and so on. The team with the lowest score wins the meet.

Grapplers win CMC championship

All the hours of exhausting practice and the many days spent fasting proved to be worthwhile as the 72-73 Jay Wrestling squad posted a 10-3-1 season record. This was Coach Richardson's first year as head coach and he led them to the CMC championship. They also placed second in the district tournament and sixth in the regional tournament.

Wrestlers post 10-3-1 season record

"This year's wrestling team was a group of fine young men and showed complete unity and dedication," stated Coach Richardson. "Although we had a young team and were conference champs, it was a disappointing year for us due to the abnormal number of injuries, and the illnesses that hit us during the week of the state tournament."

ACADEMICS

Mrs. Mock receives Marcullus Dedication

As the main criteria for the dedication honor is that of dedication on the part of the teacher, the person who was chosen has gone beyond the call of duty to serve J C efficiently, responsibly, and willingly.

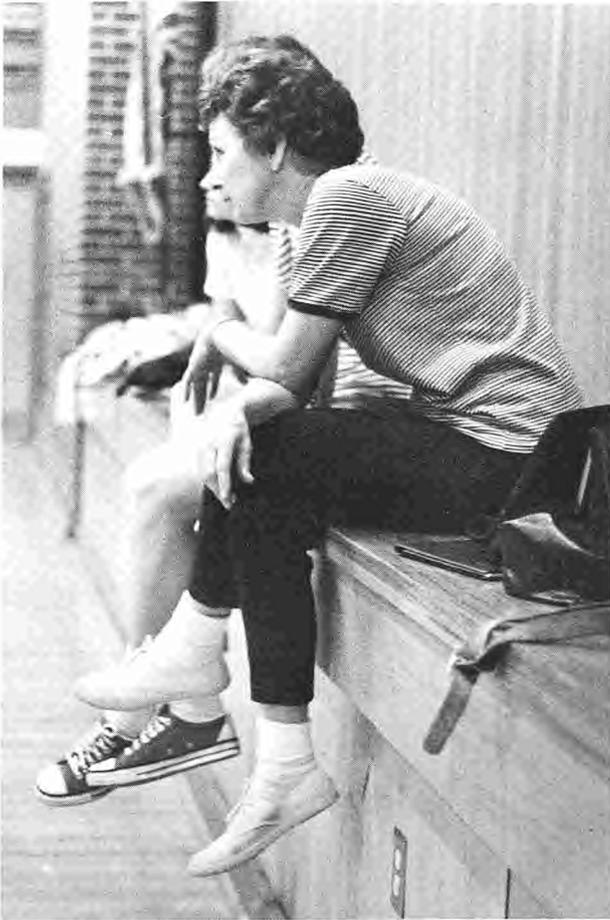

Mrs. Mock has baked cakes and cookies for Mr. Adams. She has served as the faculty hostess for faculty functions. During August she helps register students for school. Usually after dances and other activities Mrs. Mock can be found scrubbing pots and pans. For the past seven operettas she has been in charge of the choreography or the business details, or both. In the spring she is responsible for the Marcullus Coronation. But the job for which she is best known and for which she is the most criticized and the most praised is that of being the sponsor of the largest organization at J C, the Jayettes. Mrs. Mock spends hours riding a school bus that is either too hot or too cool. She has to take care of girls who are hurt or sick. For four weeks, four mornings a week, she prods the Jayettes to learn two dance routines for Homecoming.

For all of these things we thank Mrs. Mock and show our respect to a lady who has gone beyond the call of duty more than once.

At the Jayette bar-be-que (ABOVE RIGHT) Mrs. Mock thanks the girls for their appreciation gift, which she quickly named Jasper. Wednesday night before Homecoming, Mrs. Mock (RIGHT) reviews the halftime show with the Jayettes.

School Board sponsors Drug Seminar

A seminar with the theme of Youth, Drugs and Education kept the School Board busy this year. The seminar was in March and was carried out in four two-hour sessions. Instead of placing the main emphasis on drugs it was placed on the individual person; how he could develop a good concept of himself and how he could make decisions that he could be proud of. The idea behind this theme was that by a person's having a better understanding of himself, he wouldn't need drugs. Speeches were delivered on "Values, Teaching and Today's Youth", "Development of the Self-Concept", and "The Role of Drugs in Today's Culture".

Principals express views on school year

What has been the highlight of this year at JC? This is a hard question for anyone to answer and it would seem especially hard for the JC principals who are so involved in all of the school's activities.

"I think the highlight of this year has been our pep club," offered Mr. Fleming, "it's an activity that almost every student is involved in or comes in contact with in one way or another."

To Mr. Anthony no real activity stands out as a highlight because everything seemed to be on such a high caliber. Mr. Adams' feelings are along much the same line:

"Graduation is always a big event," reflected Mr. Adams, "but I guess really everyday is a highlight to me."

With this kind of an attitude from our principals it seems that the school year would have to be the best one possible.

The Senior High principals prepare for another exciting day.

Vocational students get practical experience

The COE, Industrial Arts, and Vocational Arts departments all have the common goal of letting their students learn through practical experience. This practical experience comes in many forms. In COE, students get experience in the business world. Through school-community cooperation students have the opportunity to work now and also prepare for a future job.

In Industrial Arts, problems relating to tools, machines and industrial materials are solved and in Vocational Arts demanding and exciting projects such as building a house or re-making a car are carried out. The practical experience these students are getting today will prepare them better for the future.

Individualized instruction utilized in

The purpose of the Foreign Languages program is not only to teach the student the language itself, but also to present an inside view of the people as individuals in these countries. It is through the study of the culture, normes, values, life styles, and national pastimes, that this goal is accomplished. Through this program, the basis of future international understanding and cooperation are hopefully lain.

The courts give gym students an opportunity to play in a sport not previously offered, and also they give the JC tennis team a convenient place to practice. Archery, soccer, bowling, and softball are just a few of the other sports that gym students take part in during the school year. Also, intermurals in volleyball, basketball, and table tennis are played.

Counselors provide student services

"We want to help the students see themselves as they really are — not to downgrade themselves as they sometimes do."

This is just one of the goals of the JC counselors as expressed by Mr. Robert Goser. The other goals include providing different kinds of services for the students, helping students with personal problems, and making suggestions about the school curriculum.

In the area of services this year the counselors have been busy. They've interviewed every JC student to make sure that they aren't having any problems. The counselors set up pre-enrollment and organized a College and Career Day. A new service offered this year was the Job Placement Program. Employers could call the counselors if they needed someone for a job, and with the help of cards that the students filled out, the counselors try to find a person to fill the job.

Freshman band first in Lebanon

All of the Freshman Bands have been very active this year. The Marching Band placed first in the Class S competition and received the Outstanding Band Traveling Trophy in the Lebanon Christmas Parade.

This is the first year that the Freshman Concert Band has taken any trips. The band presented assemblies for schools in Eugene and Eldon.

The 24 member Jazz Band made a good showing at several contests this year. The band received first place in the Junior High division at the SMS Contest. At the Central Band Festival, the band received a I Rating in the Jr. High division.

Mr. Shollenberger, the Freshman Band director, said, "I am well pleased with the way the band has worked this year. These kids have pride in JC and want to give it a good reputation."

"What's that next note?"

Freshman dance a huge success

"Involved" is how Janet Watts describes her class. The Freshman Class of 1973-74 has been active in all Senior High activities as well as projects of their own.

Among the highlights of the year for the freshmen were the Freshman Party, the annual Freshman Talent Assembly, and a Fifties Day.

This "close-knit group", as Cindy Buse characterizes her class, showed their school spirit by sponsoring several Spirit Days to honor Jay athletes. The freshmen demonstrated their interest in helping the community by collecting for the Tree of Lights Christmas fund.

The Freshman Class started their high school years by getting involved in all facets of Senior High life.

J C remembers

Each year J C students make contributions through class competition, such as the Thanksgiving Project. In the spring a fund raising project is usually held which offers entertainment. But during the 1970-71 school year, J C students did not need any competition or entertainment, they only needed concern for a fellow student.

Cathy Hoffman lost the partial use of her leg in eighth grade. This illness was followed by a series of hospital stays and operations. During her freshman year, Cathy participated in many of the activities offered. Though she had great difficulty walking, she continued to play in the band. Her sophomore year Cathy was unable to attend school: She was almost constantly confined to her hospital bed with terminal cancer.

That year the student body rallied to her cause. $443.82 was donated by the students out of love and concern. Students filled baskets with cards for her. Her hospital room was crowded with stuffed animals, cards, posters, and bouquets of flowers. Students who did not even know Cathy visited her. A special assembly was taped for her. A telephone was set up connecting the choir room and her hospital room. In this way, the choir was able to sing special songs to her and talk with her. On April 18, 1971, Cathy Hoffman died. But while she was alive, the student body generated a spontaneous love and concern that is very hard to match.

Two other members of the 1973 class have also died during high school. Cheryl Cooper died of injuries sustained in a car accident the summer following her sophomore year. In his senior year Jerry Spencer died in an automobile accident.

JC holds Baccalaureate, Senior Brunch, and Commencement

Unlike previous years, Baccalaureate and Graduation were held on the same day, Thursday, May 31. Four hundred twenty Seniors filed through choir members, each holding a candle and singing the "Alma Mater." Dr. Don Baker brought the morning sermon, with Rev. Ernest Newborn, Dr. Robert Herrmann, and Rev. Richard Cronin officiating. During the service the choir presented "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Onward Ye People," "No Man Is an Island," and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Following the Baccalaureate, Seniors gathered at Riverside Park for the Senior Brunch. After the meal, Ricky Walquist presented appreciation gifts to Amelie Stucke, AFS student, and Miss Raithel and Mrs. Humphrey, class sponsors. Entertainment by Tim Gaines, David Baker, Rita Ruth, and Ruth Ann Scott ended the morning's activities.

At 8:30 that evening the graduates marched down the stadium's track to participate in their last activity at J. C. Secretary of State, James C. Kirkpatrick, gave the address. Mr. Fleming presented American Legion awards to Jonalee Young and John Wright; VFW awards to Rita Ruth and Allen Schmutzler; and the All School Service Award to Jeen Harrison. Diplomas were presented by John A. Morris, President of the School Board.

Part of the Class of '73 waits until all have been seated.

Steve Wooderson and Amy Walz, along with the other seniors, march around the track. (RIGHT) Three senior boys line up before the opening march.

I wish for your life . . .

I want you to dream dreams of a better world, better community, better country and a better you and follow the path you believe to be right. Will you dream?

I want you to develop your potential, your talents, so that you can help others. Will you try?

I want you to discover happiness, to feel joy and peace of mind, to struggle, and feel seeming hopelessness. Will you search?'

I want you to feel as others feel, those in revolt, those who don't care, and those in despair. Will you care?

I want you to improve yourself. Will you work?

I want you to learn to cry for help and to seek guidance, to become aware of the great power offered you through faith. Will you pray?

I want you most of all to be aware, to be involved, and to be in love. Then I want you to act on that awareness by becoming involved with the needs your awareness makes known to you.

Finally I want you to be in love, in love with who you are, with what you believe, and then to offer this love always to all you meet. Will you become the best possible human being you can?

What is your answer?

I hope you give so much of yourself that on some days you wonder if its really worth it all.

I wish you a magnificent obsession that will give you reason for being and purpose and direction and power from within to do that which must be done.

I wish you the total experience of life.

Let us live then and be glad
While young life's before us
After youthful pastime had,
After old age hard and sad
Earth will slumber o'er us.

In order to have hope of producing a worthwhile yearbook an editor needs a cooperative advisor and a responsible photographer. I can truthfully say that this yearbook is the students' book. Miss Bish always gave us advise and encouragement when we needed it, but she in no way tried to make this her book. Gary Rice worked untold hours training the other photographers and taking, developing, and printing his own pictures.

These two people are not the only ones who deserve my thanks. The administration has cooperated in every way to make this book possible. Many teachers have given of their time in helping us with copy information and pictures. Mr. Wright took a number of our pictures. Parents helped their students to get to school for group shots. Advertisers have contributed financially to the book. Many staff members worked hours overtime. Finally, a thank you to all the students who have made suggestions, posed for pictures, and gave us information.

I sincerely hope that through the efforts of these individuals, this yearbook represents the 1973 school year as much as possible.

— Elizabeth Holt

We have finished another year full of hope and despair. We have loved, we have fought, we have shared, and we have taken. Many of us have contributed whatever talents we had, whether it be academic, musical, athletic, or custodial. Those who have given of ourselves have experienced bitter times, but we have also felt the joy of knowing that we have been a positive part of a successful school year.

For those of you who have not given of yourself yet, I hope that you will some day be able to say, "Here is my life, I want to live it, Here is my life I want to give it serving my fellow man." For when one can say this, he has begun to live life to the fullest.
