Students Cope With Economic Problems

Students just can't escape being involved with the national problems of today. Television has brought the Watergate hearings, Agnew's resignation, and other political developments right into our own living rooms.

Even though most high school students aren't the "bread winners" for their families, inflation and the energy crisis has hit us directly. Kids are more conscious of where their money goes, especially with college or moving out on your own so near in the future.

As the gas bills ring up and money becomes tighter, students are realizing that they will have to step out into a world that will require a level head and just decisions that must be made by everyone.

Students Grow Through Involvement

“Involvement” is a big word with a big meaning. How can you tell if a school has it?

It doesn't come in a package with “JC” on the card. Everyone has to want and work for involvement. You don't have to be a member of every club to be involved, if you feel a sense of pride for JC, you are.

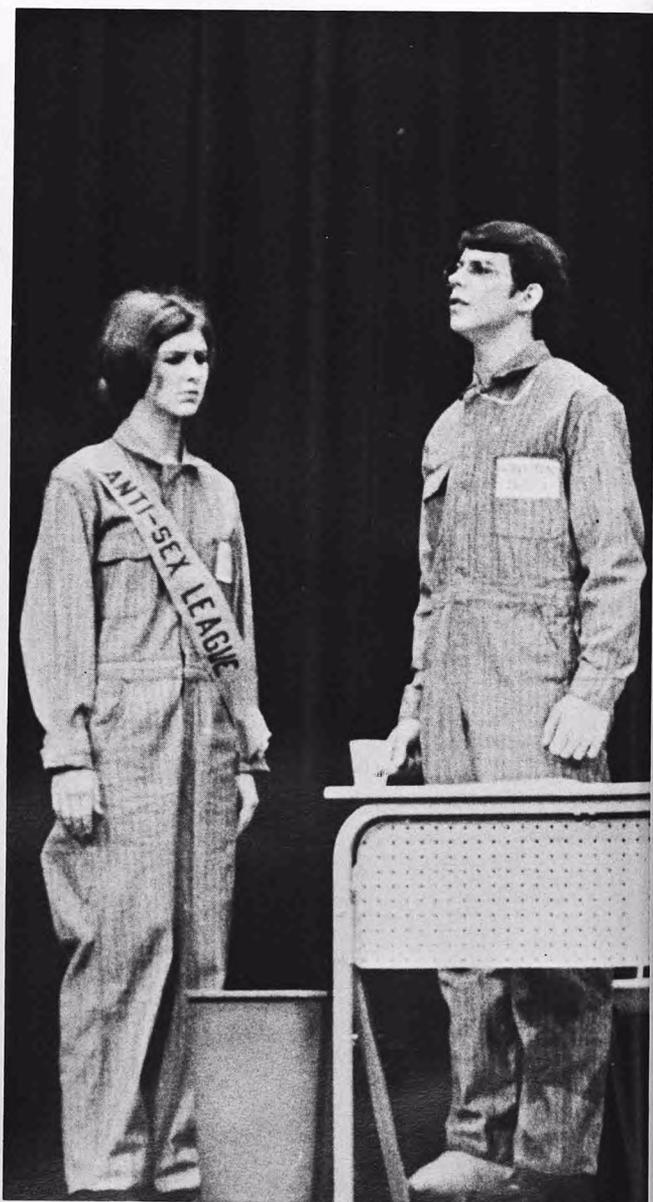

JC has always prided itself on being spirited. A 500-member pep squad cheers three athletic teams to victory, while the band plays to keep spirits high.

Each big event that is undertaken by JC involves students from the many different departments. Everyone contributes something to make it a big success.

Many traditions are being broken at JC. However, the winning tradition of the sports teams and the beauty of the courts continues. Even the fall play represents a breaking away — a change for the better — the escape from “Big Brother” in George Orwell’s 1984. Then the final break — the biggest change — the 100th graduating class. Now the seniors face a new world, a new life.

Activities and Sports

Fall Typifies Homecoming And Football

Typical fall activities at JC include Homecoming and football. At the beginning of the school year most students begin focusing on these two activities. A lot of work goes into shaping a football team for the season. Likewise, a lot of work involving hundreds of JC students shapes homecoming activities. Memories include early morning Jayette practice, band practice, float preparations, undone homework, sleeping through class, anticipation of who will be queen, the box crew buzzing Mac's with a truck load of boxes, the assembly, returning alumni, traditional mum corsages for the dance, polishing saddles for the parade, and photographers capturing the memories of Homecoming 1974.

Homecoming Theme: "Wonderful World of the Jays"

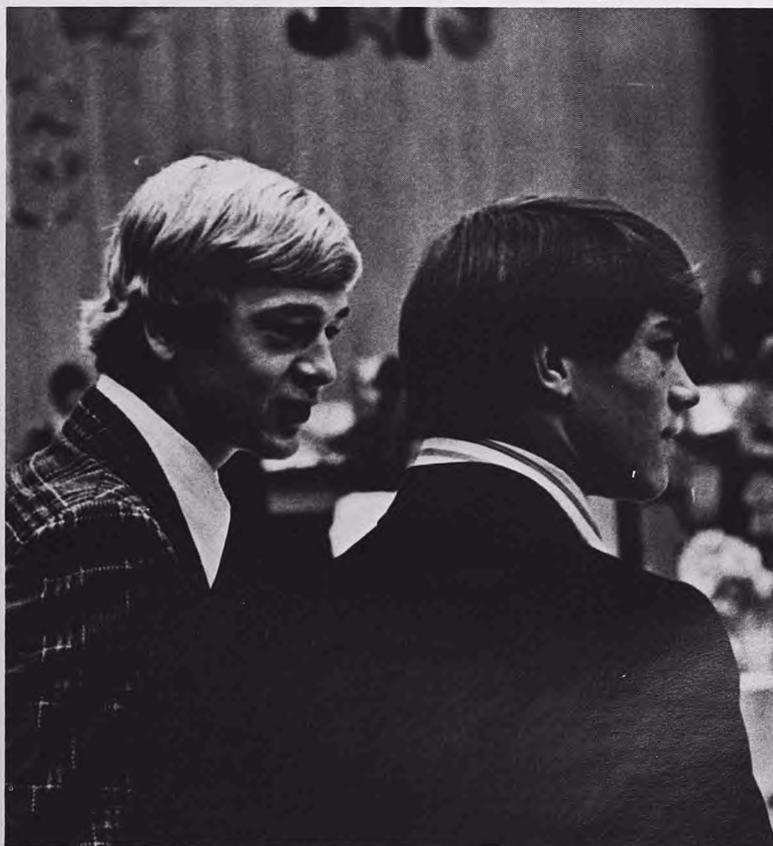

Homecoming is a busy time for everyone. Flower making, collecting boxes, unfinished homework, long planning meetings, late nights and early practices all go into making "The Wonderful World of the Jays".

After the JC cheerleaders, with the help of the majorettes and pom pon girls, touched off the boxes and spirit, Jim Humphreys introduced the Homecoming queen and her court. As the blazing bonfire died slowly, the crowd dissembled and made ready for Homecoming day 1973.

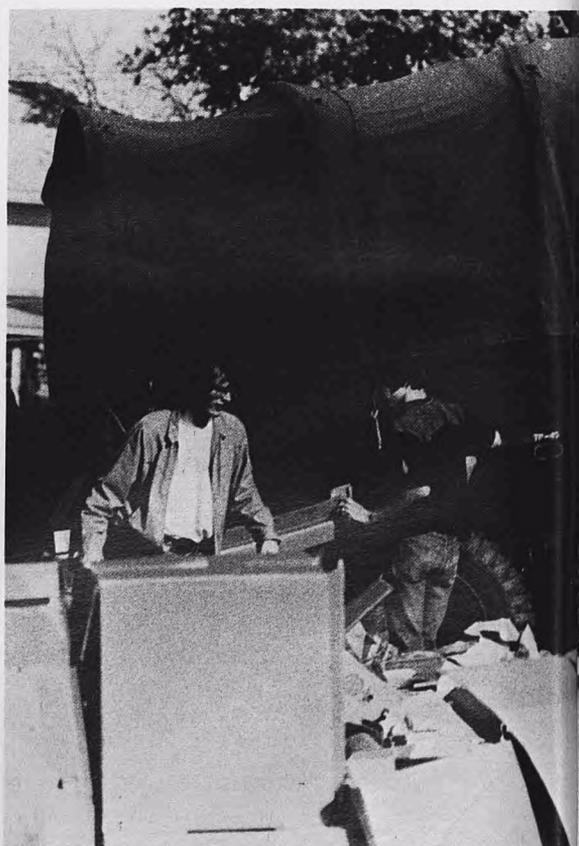

"The Day" was begun by the crowning of Queen Sue Ann Schaefer by Ken Coleman and Jim Stanford. At the assembly, Phil Jones sang "Brooklyn" to honor the queen and her court. "I've never felt so proud to be a part of this school than at the assembly," said Terri McLaren. The cheerleaders concluded the assembly with a spirited pep rally.

Homecoming Day Ends in Victory

Band members, Jayettes, and excited students, gathered at Freshman High for the traditional Friday afternoon parade. After returning to Freshman, floats were torn down, except for the winning floats which were displayed at the game.

The halftime show was provided by the Jayettes and the Marching Band. The Jayettes did dance steps to "America" and Chim Chim Cher-ee." The combined Senior and Freshman High bands played "This is My Country" while the Jayettes sang, danced, and formed an outline of the United States.

After trampling the Comanches 56-7, the student body celebrated with a dance after the game.

Court Reflections

"I just kept thinking this really isn't happening. It was one of the most exciting experiences of my life," remarked Queen Sue Ann Schaefer (3) after reigning over the '73 homecoming activities.

Dorothy Schaefer (2) summed up her feelings as, "It was different from anything I've done in my whole life."

Petite Laura Bergman (1) stated, "I hope that I have lived up to my class's expectations, because I will always remember it as the highlight of my school years."

"It's such a good feeling to know that the school supports you. I felt so proud during the assembly that they felt I was a good representative of the school. I'll never forget it," reflected Terri McLaren (4).

"It's like you're in a dream. It's something you can't describe but it sure goes by fast." These are the words of Debbie Schuelein (5) as she reminisced about the homecoming activities.

Jays Post 9-1 Gridiron Season

“When this group of boys showed up for practice way back in August, I didn’t think that we could even make a first down, not to mention a season like the one that just ended,” stated Coach Adkins. Not only were they able to make a first down, they had an offense that scored 284 points in ten games compared to 61 points scored by their opponents. The team was so well balanced that you couldn’t single out just one person who did better than any other, the team as a whole did a terrific job.

Wilson Named to All-State Team; 14 Make CMC And All-District

The seniors shined through for the Jay football team this past year. With only 8 starters from the previous season, Coach Adkins and new head assistant, Coach Brownlee, had to find some talent somewhere and found it among the 15 Seniors. The team was so well balanced that you couldn't single out just one person who did better than any other, the team as a whole did a terrific job. Coach Adkins said, "In my book all of these boys are All-Conference, All-District, and All-State. Even though everyone could not make it, we placed Ken Coleman, Guy Rush, Greg Wilson, Dave Williams, Don Becker, David Lynch, and Delbert Thomas on All-Conference; Guy Rush, Greg Wilson, Steve Sugarbaker, Don Becker, Rusty Sweaney, David Lynch, and Delbert Thomas on All-District; and Greg Wilson made All-State."

Harriers Place Third in State Meet

The Jay Cross Country team has done it again. For the second straight year they took the Central Missouri Conference title. Along with this title they also collected first place in the District and first place in the Regional meets and came in third in State competition in the 1973 season.

The training for cross-country included being at school by 7:00 A.M. and running 3 to 6 miles every day. All the preparation under Coach York led to a successful season for the second year of existence. Not just a few runners, but the whole team went to state. Some of the top runners were Dave Cooper in 15th place, Dennis Bentch in 19th place, Bryce Allmon in 28th place, Mike Cain in 51st place, and Keith Rush in 52nd place. "By all the different guys going to state, it showed we really ran as a team. It was a great season," said Mike Cain.

Fall Play: 1984

In the year 1984, Big Brother is battling for world control. The Party's aim is to create a new life made up of only feelings and actions of loyalty to Big Brother. Winston, an unsure Party member, falls in love with Julia, who has the same ideals. They secretly marry and join a movement to defeat the Party. Unfortunately, they're captured and tortured until they lose their love through betrayal. They're then released to live their separate lives as loyal Party members.

Kim Roy was student director, Terri Crews, stage manager, and Craig Perkins took care of special lighting.

Carols Celebrate Christmas

Carols rang through the capital as the combined choirs and concert band (3) officially opened the 1973 Christmas season. The 36th annual Capitol Caroling opened with "Prelude To Christmas", which was played by the band. The combined choirs (1, 4 & 5) started with "Processional, Adeste Fideles". The chorale performed two numbers, "Jesus, Jesus Rest Your Head" and "Gloria In Excelsis Deo". The Freshmen soloed with "Fum, Fum, Fum" and "To Us Is Born Immanuel". Audiene participation was asked in three well-known carols. The band closed with "Christmas Triptych".

Students in the art department, with the help of Mrs. Jones and Mr. O'Neil (2), were responsible for the decorations in the capitol rotunda.

Janis Scheperle Reigns Over Winter Sports Activities

Neither snow, nor school on Saturday, could contain the JC Sweetheart beauties. At a Friday morning assembly Janis Scheperle was crowned Sweetheart Queen by Jim Humphreys and Roy Ziegler (2) serenaded her with "Cherish". The court, including Laura Freeman (1), Marti Duggins (3), Katie Appleton (4), and Cindy Lochhead (5), was presented a charm by last year's court and then entertained at a luncheon hosted by past queen, Terri Cooper.

Queen Janis (6) and her court reigned over the basketball game Friday night, February 22, and watched the Jays overwhelm Parkway North 59-53. The dance, which featured a grand march, had music provided by "Scorpio".

Sweetheart Queen And Court Reminisce

Janis Schepeler (1) felt that being selected as the Winter Sports Queen was a very unique experience and unforgettable. She exclaimed, "I couldn't stop crying because I was so happy. It was one of the shortest days of my life filled with the most memories."

Cindy Lochhead (2) stated, "I didn't get a chance to think about being on court until the very day, because I was the general chairman of all the Sweetheart activities and that kept me very busy. It was one of the best days of my life."

"I was excited but I wish I could remember more. I was so nervous that all I could do was grip my escorts' arm," replied Katie Appleton (3).

"I can't even remember walking down the gym but I remember feeling very special," said Laura Freeman (4). "I was terrified because I thought I would trip on my dress."

Marti Duggins (5) remarked, "It all went by so fast. It was even more special to me because it was my birthday."

Humphreys And Goldammer Make All-Conference And All-District

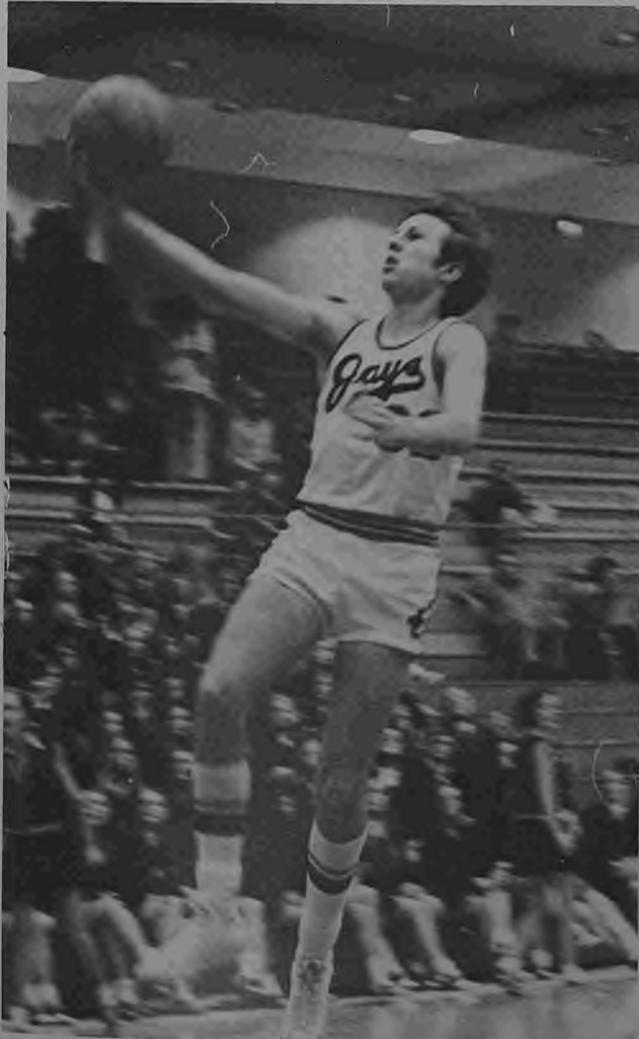

All the hours of practice paid off as the Jays completed a successful 17-10 season. Even with the injuries of Kevin McDaniel and Rusty Goldammer, they beat teams such as previously undefeated Salem and Hillcrest, which was one of the best teams in Southern Missouri. They placed Jim Humphreys and Rusty Goldammer on the All-Conference team with Guy Rush, Jim Marcantonio, and Mark Smith getting honorable mention. "It was a successful year, but I don't think we accomplished all we could have," stated Jim Humphreys.

Grapplers Take Fourth CMC Title

The wrestling team has taken the Central Missouri Conference Championship for the fourth consecutive year. Along with their CMC title, the grapplers took second in the Class AA District meet and third in the Regional bout.

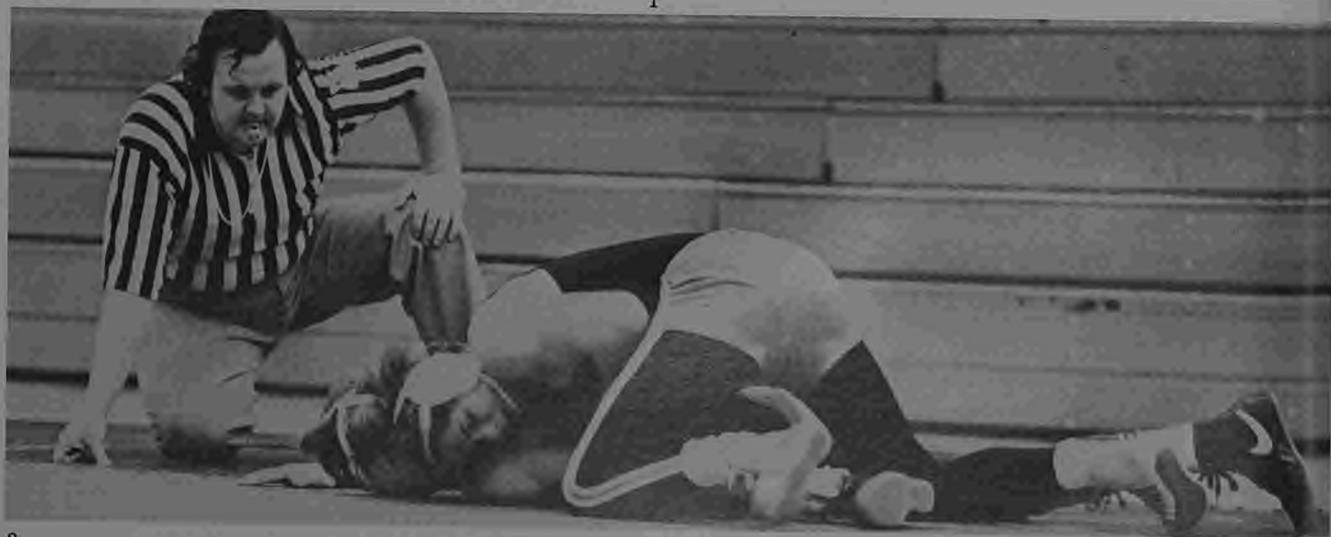

The varsity team ended the year with 5 wins, 5 losses, and 1 tie, while the Junior Varsity squad ended with a 3-6 record. Coach Richardson will have fourteen boys returning who have seen varsity action, with three of them, Jim Howland, Jay Wiedenmeyer, and David Moore, being lettermen, during the 1973-74 wrestling season.

During the past year, Dennis Galbreath and Randy Holliday, seniors, received the best won-loss record award, which was presented at the banquet. David Moore, junior, was voted the wrestler with the most improved record, while Senior Ron Walker was cited as the wrestler showing the most improvement during the season. Along with his previous awards, Dennis Galbreath was also noted as the wrestler with the most pins, 19, and the most individual points scored, 319.

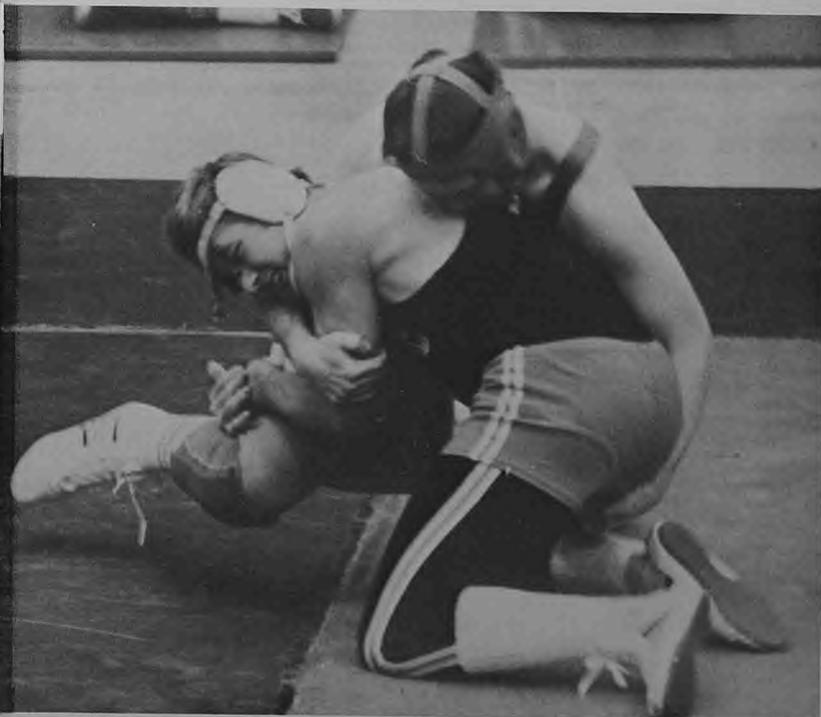

1. Tom "Flash" Edwards does one of his many jobs as head manager. 2. Mike McElwaine, senior, rides his opponent for time points. 3. Randy Holliday, senior, shows his strength against a top opponent.

Tri-Captains Lead JC Grapplers

The first of November meant the start of work for thirty-three boys who would make up the '73-74 edition of the J C wrestling team. The tri-captains, Jim Stanford, Dennis Galbreath, and Randy Holliday, led the grapplers throughout the season. Through numerous practice sessions, Randy Holliday, Dennis Galbreath, and Jim Stanford along with other members of the team went through grueling exercises and many drills to develop their techniques. They lifted weights to strengthen their bodies in preparation for the wrestling season. The three captains went to State Competition with Dennis Galbreath and Randy Holliday, both Seniors, taking third place.

1. Captains Jim Stanford and Dennis Galbreath practice for the state matches. 2. Randy Holliday, Senior, rests after defeating another opponent. 3. Rex Owens, junior, meets head-to-head with a Mexico opponent. 4. Ron Walker, senior, gets ready to out-muscle his opponent. 5. Dennis Galbreath, senior, prepares to put the pin on his opposition.

American Finds Love in Brigadoon

Brigadoon is the story of two Americans, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, who are lost in the Scottish Highlands and stumble upon a mystic village. Tommy meets Fiona who is helping her sister prepare for her wedding. Intrigued by the talk of a miracle, the odd quaintness of the town, and his sudden attraction to Fiona, Tommy decides to stay the day.

During a visit to the schoolmaster, Mr. Lundie, Tommy learns that Brigadoon goes into a sleep from which it awakens every hundred years for one day. No villager is allowed to leave, or the town will disappear forever. A stranger may stay if he falls in love.

The entire village goes to the wedding of Charlie and Jean. In revenge, the bride's heartbroken suitor decides to run away and destroy the town. A chase follows and the runaway is found dead.

Meanwhile, Tommy tells Fiona that he loves her and that he's decided to stay in Brigadoon.

Tommy tells Jeff of his decision only to find that Jeff was the accidental killer of the runaway. The shock of his friend's confession and Jeff's insistence that the town is a dream, makes Tommy doubt Fiona and Brigadoon.

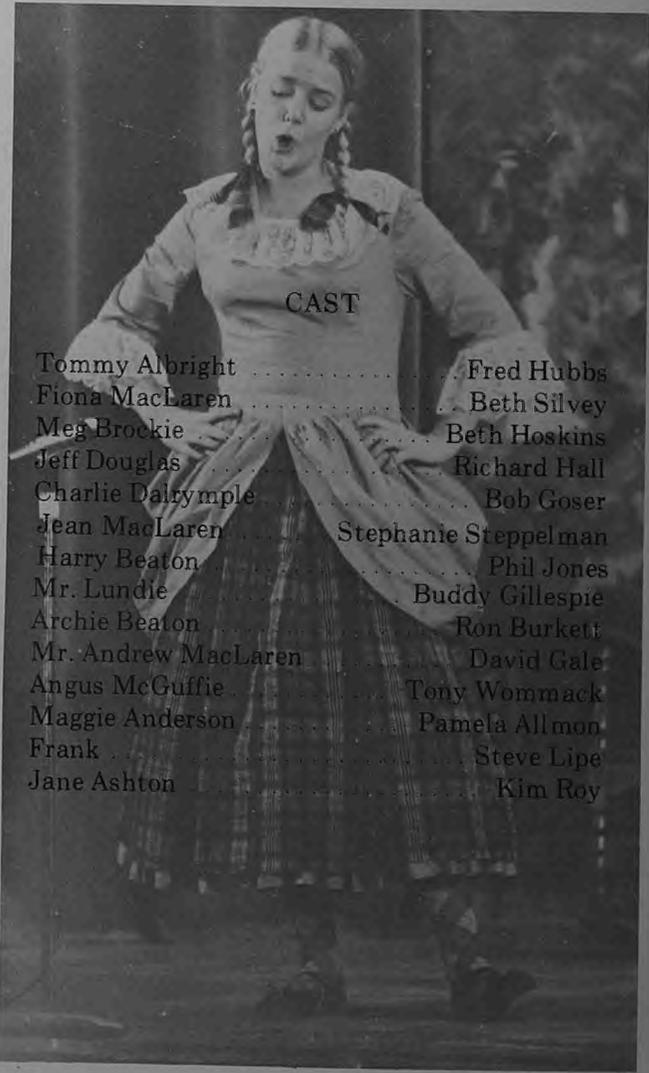

Tommy returns to New York only to find himself haunted by Fiona's memory and he returns to Scotland to find her and Brigadoon.

Cast Holds Memories of Brigadoon

The town of Brigadoon was as magical as the opening night performance. Many hours of tears, aggravation, hunger pains, boredom, along with laughter, jokes, and Mr. Watt combined, made the operetta a memorable experience. How could we forget Phil Jones' tennis shoes, the sword dancer's gym shorts, the cackling chickens, the crying baby, and the look on Mr. Burkel's face when Brigadoon turned out to be a great success.

Backstage Crew Helps

It takes many hours of dedicated behind-the-scenes work to make an operetta run smoothly. The props must be made for various scenes; a staff must be organized to work the lights, curtains, and move the props. Without the backstage crew, a successful stage production wouldn't be possible.

1. Suzi Herigon falls for the theater. 2. ROPE YANKERS: Steve McDonald, Steve Slagle, Spencer King, and Russell Rottmann. 3. The special dancers, Todd Awe, Jim McLaughin, and Phil Jones, practice the Scottish dance. 4. Finding costumes for the entire cast is a difficult job. 5. ## Jays Take CMC Championship

The track team proved its power this year by earning a 9-0 record in dual and triangular meets. Along with their perfect record the Jays took first place in the Capital City Relays, Centralia Relays, and the Mark Twain Relays. As the season progressed, the Jays showed their strength by winning the Central Missouri Conference Championship.

The team started practicing indoors at the end of February, getting outdoors whenever the weather permitted. The season ended at the State meet where Leland Fletcher placed first in the pole vault, breaking the old State record by one inch, with a height of 15 feet 1 1/2 inches. Brian Johnson, Dave Cooper, Mark Hofius, and Dave Williams also attended the State meet, which was held at the University of Missouri.

Eight Records Broken

The 1974 track team had a smashing season as far as records were concerned. Throughout the season there were eight records broken. Four running events were rewritten, led by Dave Cooper breaking both the mile run and the two mile run with times of 4:20.2 and 9:30.7 respectively. The two mile relay team members: Guy Rush, Keith Rush, Mark Hofius, and Dave Cooper set a new time of 8:12.4. Greg Weaver, Larry Branson, Dave Lynch, and Rick Moeller, members of the 440 relay team with a new time of 44.7, also set a new school record. Leland Fletcher set a new school record in the pole vault with a height of 15' 1 1/2", which was also a new state record. Rusty Sweaney broke the high jump record with a new height of 6'2" and Brian Johnson out-did his old triple jump record with a new distance of 45' 1/2".

Freshmen Add to Rebuilding Baseball Team

The varsity baseball team wound up the year with a 9-9 record, and the B-team had a 3-1 record. Practice began on February 15, and they practiced every day for two hours except when rain stopped them. David Griffin and Jim Marcantonio were the co-captains, and Danny McDaniel led the team with a .333 batting average. "This year's team was a rebuilding one with only four seniors on it. The prospects for next year's team looks bright," said Jim Marcantonio.

Golfers Take 1st in Conference And District

The golfers ended their year with an 11-1 record under Coach Gibbs. They took first place in Conference for the 8th year in a row, and first place in District for the 7th consecutive year. The leading scorers in the state meet were Bill Landis, Mike Nichols, and Jim Humphreys. "It was great to continue the winning streak in the Conference and District meets. If we would have shot the same score in the State meet as we did in the District, I think we would have won," remarked Jim Humphreys.

Underclassmen Lead Tennis Team to 2nd in CMC

The tennis team ended their year with an 8-3 record. They began their practice on March 1 and practiced every day for about two hours. They took second place in Conference, and sixth place in District under Coach Kohen. "It was a pretty good year, except for Columbia, who will still be tough next year," said J. R. Chappell.

J. C. Players Presents

"Cheaper by the Dozen" is a true story about a family, the Gilbreths, living in the mid 1920's. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbreth and their twelve children: Ernestine, Dan, Frank, Anne, Martha, Bill, Francis, Lillian, Jackie, and the three younger girls. Mr. Gilbreth decides that his children will not be allowed to take part in such frivolous activities as dating and wasting time. Without realizing the hurt that they're causing, the children rebel against their Father's rules. Unfortunately, they didn't know that he was dying and only wanted to spend his remaining time wisely.

1. Miss Brill explains a problem. 2. Ernestine and Frank play checkers. 3. "I'm going to be me!" 4. The children anxiously await their Father's words. 5. "Are you sure?" 6. Old Ernestine and Old Frank think about the past.

"We May Never Pass This Way Again"

Strands of Seals and Crofts "We May Never Pass This Way Again" filled the Senior High gymnasium on May 4, as the junior class hosted the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Music was provided by Triphammer for the dancing pleasure of all. Highlighting the evening was the traditional senior grand march. During the grand march over a footbridge which spanned two fishponds, seniors reflected on the prom and truly realized the theme, that "We May Never Pass This Way Again".

Magical Spirit

The annual Spring Concert opened the 1974 Music Week. The orchestra entertained with two numbers. Selections from "Brigadoon" made up the Processional. The court and escorts were: Sue Ann Schaefer and Jim McLaughlin, Joyce Brown and Tony Wommack, Janis Scheperle and Eric Miller, and Cindy Lochhead and Todd Awe. Crown and flower bearers, Timmy Schutt and Holly Schrivner, preceded Laura Bergman and Steve Sugarbaker. Jim Humphreys crowned Laura the 1974 Marcullus Queen. The choir then sang 12 more numbers, ending with "Turn Around". A short reception followed in the front courtyard.

Judges Select Laura Bergman As Queen

Each Spring ten girls are nominated by the student body for the Marcullus Court. From the ten, five girls are elected to reign over the Spring Concert.

The queen is chosen by a panel of judges who judge the candidates on beauty, poise, and charm. This year the judges at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Missouri, chose Laura Bergman as the 1974 Marcullus Queen. The queen was announced in the Jefferson City News and Tribune on Sunday, April 21. Other members of the court were (pictured at right) Cindy Lochhead, Joyce Brown, Queen Laura Bergman, Sue Ann Schaefer, and Janis Schepeler.

The queen and court were presented at the annual Spring Concert held in the courtyard. The Chorale led the processional with selections from this year's operetta, "Brigadoon". The remainder of the Choir joined the Chorale to complete the rest of the program. The afternoon showers did not seem to dampen the spirits of the crowd or the participants.

Senior's Last Day

The seniors' last day was a very busy one. The Baccalaureate Service was first. The concert band opened with the processional to "Alma Mater". A hymn and a choir number followed. The invocation was given by Reverend Blosser. Reverend Shipley read the scripture and the choir performed two numbers; one of which was the beautiful melody, "You'll Never Walk Alone". "America" was then played. The Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Reverend Cronin. The recessional ended the 1974 Baccalaureate Service.

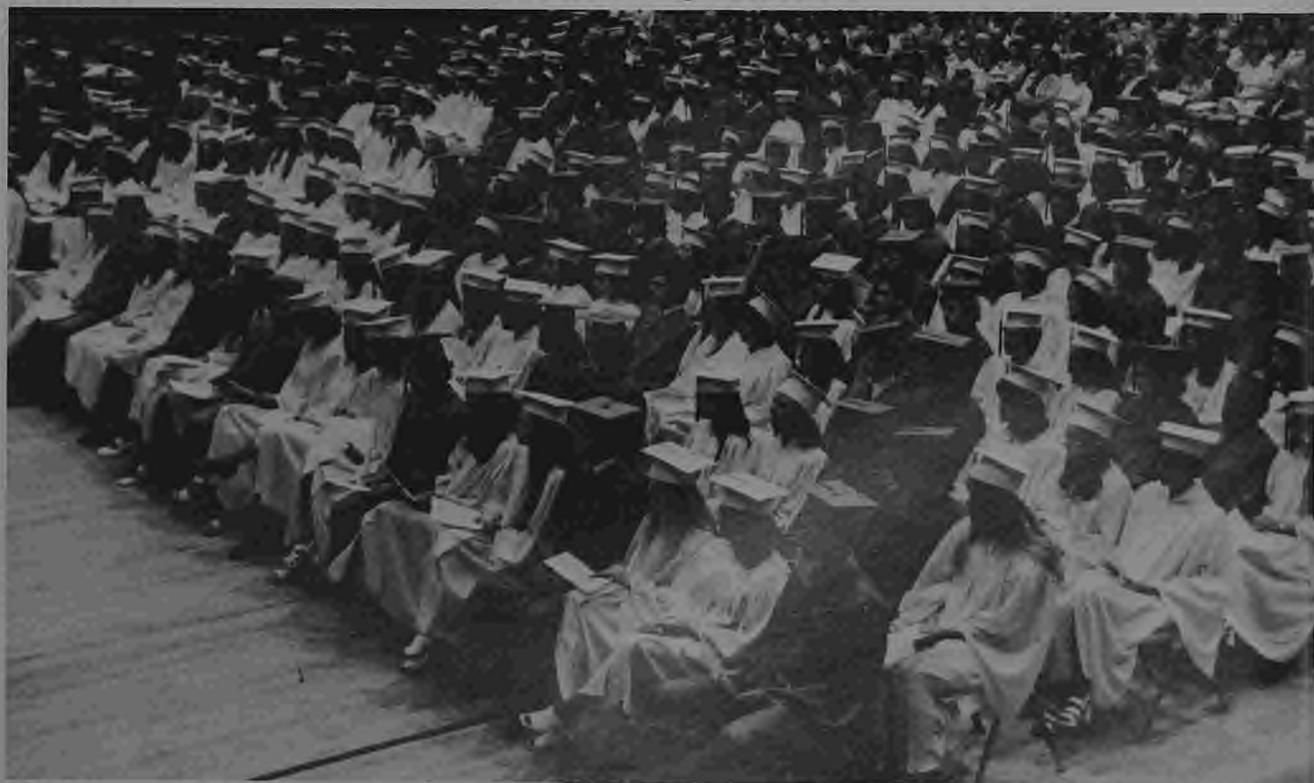

Next, the seniors had their annual brunch at Ellis Porter Park. Lunch was served to those who had tickets. There was lots of free time before and after lunch was served and the creative seniors found many ways to have fun during that time.

After the brunch, the seniors were required to return to their sixth hour class in order to obtain their book refunds.

Following Commencement, Westgate Lanes sponsored the annual all-night party for the seniors. A band played for those who wanted to dance and the lanes were open for free use. The game tables were open and refreshments were provided. Door prizes were given throughout the party.

100th Commencement

The Centennial Commencement took place on May 31, 1974. The band opened with a march and the pledge and national anthem followed. The seniors marched around the track to the processional, "Grand March from Aida". Mr. Nichols presented Attorney General Danforth, the guest speaker. The Alumni Citation was then awarded to Dr. Cortez Enloe. Mr. Fleming presented special awards to five seniors, then presented the class. Mrs. Aldridge awarded the diplomas. "America" and "Alma Mater" were sung and the graduates marched out to "Pomp and Circumstance". Thus ended twelve years of tears and smiles while reaching for the star of graduation for the 1974 graduates of Senior High.

What characterizes each individual? What makes them do the crazy things they do? What makes them tick? Each one of us is an individual, unlike none other. Future years will come and you will remember names and you will remember faces, but will you remember them together? This year the class section will not only be a complete directory to all students, but will bring out the human interest in JC and attempt to explain some of the happenings in life.

Frosh Officers Attend Drug Ed. Workshop

Striving to get as many students as possible involved, especially in the area of voting, was a major goal of this year's Freshman class officers. They became involved themselves by attending a Drug Education Workshop in St. Louis in February.

Although they expressed some of the same complaints that every Frosh class does, they enjoyed the many advantages of being the only class in the building. They said being alone gave them a chance to get to know classmates they didn't even know existed.

Freshmen Experience Isolation Problems

The "Big House" is one of the names which is given to Senior High by the Freshman students. In some ways the students at Freshman feel excluded from Senior High because they are not able to be involved on occasions with the Senior High students. All assemblies are at each school at different times except the Homecoming Assembly, one of the most important. When clubs have meetings at Senior High, the announcements don't make it over to Freshman High all the time and the Freshman students have to suffer the consequences.

Being by yourself for a year isn't all that bad. You're able to get used to another different school.

You don't just have to go to the same school four years in a row, you get a variety, which all students like once in a while.

Throughout the bustle of the year, the seniors are usually in the limelight. It seems that they are the busiest class in the system. Although they may not be the busiest class, the freshmen have enough to keep them occupied.

The class, in general, is kept busy with studying the State Constitution, putting on a Christmas play, intramural sports, and various other academic activities. Because they are in a separate building, they have their own chapter of the National Junior Honor Society. Only top students of the class are elected to this honor.

Early in the year, the class holds its annual Freshman Night. This is a big event for a lot of kids and parents that entails not only a chili supper, but a football game and the band's first marching field show.

In addition to Freshman Night, freshmen can be found in all phases of Homecoming.

For the past years, the Freshman Choir has been a welcome part of Capitol Caroling, their music ringing through the halls of the Capitol.

The band also gets its share of the work. Homecoming, Freshman Night, Band Night, Spring Concerts, and, of course, parades. Freshman band is the molding shop for a bandsman on his way to the Marching Jay Band.

Yes, the Freshmen are a busy class. No one can say they don't have the opportunity to get involved.

Active Frosh Show Promise

Some people wonder how they can get involved at school and become a part of things. One of the nicest things about coming to Freshman is that you gain eligibility for the many J C clubs which offer virtually something for everyone.

Many become more involved through such activities as the annual sale of J C Band candy. Van Rollins and Skip Schrock (right) were the top freshman candy salesmen.

Others prefer a personal, individual activity, such as Suzi Martin (below right) who has proved her excellence in the field of gymnastics. In only one year, she has gone from beginner status to intermediate, picking up awards and trophies all the way. In her second competition as an intermediate, she placed first in balance beam, uneven parallel bars, floor exercise, and in all-around gymnastics!

"I've been interested in gymnastics for over five years," stated Suzi. "The activity I like best is the bars, but the one I do best is either floor exercise, or balance beam."

Freshman Band Captures First Place

"We now present, for your halftime enjoyment, the 100 piece Marching Freshman Jay Band!"

That statement introduced the Frosh Band at their first performance of the year. The Freshman Night show came off in high style.

Other highlights of the year included a trip to Lebanon, where they took the first-place trophy, marching in their first Christmas and Homecoming parades, and this year for the first time, the band was included in the halftime activities at Homecoming. The band played for several concerts including Band Night, their annual Spring Concert and an assembly for the students at Freshman.

This year's drum major was Mark Cook. Twirlers were Cindy Baumgartner, Janet Emmel, and Becky McDonald.

“Let’s Dance!”

“Oh! What a cute guy!”

“Don’t you wish you were dancing with him?”

“Look at her go, what a chick!”

These are a couple of comments you hear at a dance while kids are sitting at the tables. The dances usually go off pretty well. There’s a lot of fun going on and usually a good party afterwards. Hold ’em Friday nights or Saturday nights, it’s a cheap nice date for the guys and girls. Guys kind of enjoy the turnabout dances, but for sure the girls really dig ’em.

Frosh Active in Sports

The Freshman football Jays fought their way to a 5-0 season this year. The team was led by Kevin Myers, with Rod Burnett in the backfield. The offensive line consisted of Tim Hayden, Gray Birdsong, Don Basinger, Paul Englehart, and Chris Myers. The Frosh averaged 25 points per game and held their opponents to a 6 point per game average.

The basketball coach, Ron Kappelman, brought the Freshman team from a slow start to a strong finish record of 10-3. The team's leading scorers were Danny McDaniels and Rick Prosser.

Freshmen also may participate on JC's varsity track, tennis, cross country, wrestling, baseball and golf programs.

One facility enjoyed at Freshman High is the swimming pool, which is used for gym and recreational purposes.

Speech Dept. Presents Christmas Play

"It took a lot of practice after school, but it was fun," said Jan Foresman about the Freshman play. Jan took the lead role in the play which was called, "A Moose in the Hoose." The Freshmen put the play on during their Christmas assembly. It was about a family in New York who begins reading the story, A Visit from Saint Nicholas. They find out they must have a mouse to complete the book, so they call their Uncle Fred who sets out to solve their problem.

Jan played the role of Mrs. Creevy, and Bryan Daniels was Mr. Creevy, her husband. Lindsay Ann and Tim, the two children, were portrayed by Brenda Smith and Steve Mustoe. Uncle Fred was Kevin Feeler and Chris Myers was featured as The Moose.

Sophomore Officers Lend "Jay Power"

As elected leader of the sophomore class, Ron Burkett heads the slate of officers. Brent Ward has the position of vice-president, and Vicki Limbaugh is Secretary-Treasurer. Sandy Braun, Richard Hall, and Asami Zimmerman are representatives. Together, this group headed the 1973 Sophomore Homecoming float with the theme, "Jay Power — It's Working," and sponsored the Zig-Zag vs. Faculty game. At Christmas time, the sophomore class helped the juniors put up Christmas decorations. "It's really great being on student council this year; you're with the rest of the student council members which makes it a lot easier at the meetings, not having to sit by yourselves and be all clammed up when everyone else is stating their opinions," says Vicki Limbaugh.

Sarah Dawson Represents Sophs At Pilgrimage

The Sophomore Class takes part in many different activities, such as selling programs at the first home football game, and creating their annual class float for the Homecoming Parade.

The main activity which sophomores participate in is the "Sophomore Pilgrimage." The Federation of Women's Clubs of Missouri is the sponsor of the activity. After the faculty nominates nine sophomores, on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service, the sophomore students vote on the nine nominees to select one representative.

Students from all over the state of Missouri participate. Local clubs sponsor each of the students. This year, the Capital City Women's Club sponsored J C sophomore, Sarah Dawson. When she was asked about being chosen, Sarah said, "I was very excited." The pilgrimage includes a tour of the State Capitol and a luncheon.

In addition to Sarah, Noel Blythe, Mark Ewers, Mary Fine, Lorie Fischer, J. Maynard Parker, Donna Richey, Valerie Sublett, and Kristi Tornquist were nominated for the honor.

“Beat Faculty!”

“Why do the teachers always have to win?”

“They probably bribed the refs!” These are the usual sayings of everyone after the student-faculty game. But, as we all know, the Zig-Zags put up a good fight against the fantastic, coordinated teachers.

The game was a real success for everyone, but especially for the Sophomore Class. With Miss Laux as supervisor, sophomore students volunteered to work in shifts at the front gate and concession stands before and during the game. While some worked inside the concession booths, groups of two went out into the crowd and sold cokes and popcorn. They charged 50c to everyone who wanted to get a good laugh. There was also a volunteer pep band to participate in the fun.

“Debbie G. Loves John,

The administration calls it vandalism. Some students thought it clever. But whatever it is called, it turns up all the time. Graffiti again infected J C lockers, as it did last year, and all the previous years before. Among these choice bits of student witticism were seen the well-known: “Buster loves Kathy.” The friendly: “John is weird.” And the ever-popular obscenity: (Unprintable). On open locker doors are Budman, heart, flower, and slogan stickers, magnetic people and cartoons, newspaper clippings . . . The homemade variety run into magic-marker and newsprint posters reading in big letters: “67 DAYS 'TIL SKIP WEEK — SR. 74.” Or magic-marker and no newsprint: “Kilroy was here.” In pencil, “Hi, Janet!” A loyal: “Go Jays!” in red and black ink. Equally loyal is the poignant inscription: “Debbie G. loves John, Peter, George, Gary, Kevin, Tom, Steve, Russ . . .” There are descriptions of locker occupants: “Fuzzhead.”

The epidemic spread into even the bathroom. From thence come such goodies as “Smile! You’re on Candid Camera!” And with philosophical insight, “Isn’t it awful that we write on the walls? But it’s wonderful that we communicate.” So be it. Write on, J C.

“The Bug” Hits JC

“Where is everybody?” There was a flu epidemic at J C this year. It happened right at the end of the second quarter, when exams were just about ready to be handed out. The first day, about 500 students were absent at Senior and Freshman. Some students came in late — and left after half of a day.

No one knows how it got here. Going to class was a matter of entering a room and wondering who was going to be there, instead of wondering who was going to be absent. You didn't have to worry about getting pushed around in the halls because no one was there to push you. It was sad when you got to class and no one was there to say “Hi!”

The lines for the phones were so long because girlfriends were calling their boyfriends or the other way around, or students were calling home so they could be excused from school. After a while, teachers didn't know if they should keep trying to teach new lessons, or wait for the sick students. The epidemic really set back the school functions and a lot of students. Eventually, things got back to normal, but unfortunately exams were still handed out as scheduled.

Sophomores Win "Brigadoon" Leads

Three sophomore choir members won leads in the operetta this year. Underclassmen are not usually found in the major lead positions, but "Brigadoon" proved to be an exception.

Mr. Beaton is the town woolen salesman. He is the father of Harry, the young lad who tries to run away and gets killed. Ron Burkett is the sophomore who played the part of Mr. Beaton.

Jeff Douglas, one of the American strangers, was played by Richard Hall. Jeff is a sarcastic, anti-social sort of fellow. Upon entering the town, Jeff is "caught" by Meg Brockey, the town extrovert. Some of Jeff's lines are the funniest in the entire show. He is, perhaps, the character most identified with by the audience.

Mr. Lundie is probably the most important character of the show. Without him the town story could never have been told. Sophomore Buddy Gillespie landed the part of Mr. Lundie. Mr. Lundie is a semi-elderly gentleman; the town philosopher. He is a kind, loving, father-to-all type man who is loved and respected by everyone in the town of Brigadoon.

Ron, Richard, and Buddy spent many hours of hard work developing the personalities of their characters. On the nights of performance, all were layered thick with make-up. Buddy received a bit more make-up because of his character's age. Buddy's hair was totally whitened for age with white shoe polish. Ron also received a small amount of shoe polish to give a middle-aged effect. Each night a new coat of polish had to be applied, despite the fact that last night's polish had not yet worn off.

Through all of the hot lights, make-up, rehearsals, and heavy costumes, Ron, Richard, and Buddy survived to give a great display of acting talent. Superb is the word that describes the performances of all three.

Sixteen-year-olds Gain Driving Experience

Driver's Education is a class "of many faces" so-to-speak. Various emotions are ever present. Such a multitude of new ideas, experiences, and facts are thrown at the Driver's Ed. student, that frequently the only thing he can do is react emotionally.

Fear is probably the most common emotion that can be found in the class. The first time a new driver is told it is his turn to drive, the mind goes totally blank. Even though it has been drilled over and over again, the responsibility of that first time behind the wheel is enough to scare even an experienced driver.

Certain films shown in the class frequently cause an emotion known as nausea. Because of the morbid and very real scenes of some horrifying automobile accidents, students very often become upset. These films although not meant to scare a young driver, are designed to show what can happen because of carelessness.

Maybe Driver's Ed. is a good place to have the emotions show. When a student finally gets his license and is out driving, the highway is no place for emotional reactions or decisions.

Middle Ages Come to JC

Monks Tony Jinks and James Howard costumed voluntarily to appear in St. Martin's Monastery on Thursday, January 24, in the year of our Lord, 1974 AD.

For one day in their lives, students in Mrs. Martin's World Studies I class felt the life of aching backs and tired wrists as they worked in complete silence on the hand-printed word, recording historical records for posterity as was once accomplished in the Middle Ages by monks in the monastery. Their assignment is a one-page manuscript, hand-printed in ink on unlined paper (parchment is scarce) using the Alcuin, lower case, Caroline alphabet, decorative letter heads, borders, illuminations and any other imaginative device befitting monks and monesses. On this day, there is "no monkey business" allowed.

Class Officers Serve On Student Council

It all starts out with tags being passed out, posters put up on walls and campaign speeches made.

Under the leadership of President Will Bradley, Vice-President Jeff Sanders, Sec.-Treas. Grace Fischer and Representatives Mariel Fischer, Mike Tetley, and Shawn Manes, the Junior Class organized the details of manning football concessions during first semester. The Junior Class' traditional spring project is hosting the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

One of the responsibilities of being a class officer is to serve as a member of Student Council.

"Student Council is one of the greatest organizations I've ever been in, and I'm looking forward to next year," quotes Secretary-Treasurer Grace Fischer, who was re-elected for next year. Shawn Manes said, "I've loved every minute of it; it's a great opportunity to meet a lot of new people and become friends with the old ones. I've had many great times in StuCo this year."

Juniors Host Prom

Wishes were made, promises were kept, while all reflected on the days gone by. Clouds of balloons ... stardust ... dancing to the music of Tripphammer ... baskets of daisies ... wishing pools ... after-prom parties and breakfasts ... reflections on Prom 1974.

The Junior Class at JC hosted the annual junior-senior prom on a Saturday night, May 4, in honor of the senior class members. The theme that was chosen was "We May Never Pass This Way Again."

The committee chairmen who planned the event included the following: Mike Tetley, ceiling; Will Bradley, center floor; Lori Carroll, stage doors; Alison Beinke, band area; Anita Vermillion, backdrop; Dana Baker, tables; Mary Knowles, grand march; Jodi Martin, bleacher walls; Donna Kuensting, refreshments; Cindy Hunter, publicity; Kim Underwood, invitations; Grace Fischer, financial; John DeClue and Brian Grandison, work committee. The sponsors for the group were Miss Arthur, Mrs. Loehner, and Mr. Corley.

Plans were begun early in order to get a head start before things got out of hand. After discussing decorations the chairmen decided on a bridge under a cloud of colored balloons in the center of the gym. With wishing pools on each side of the bridge, more reality was added. A large theme was spelled out from one corner of the stage gym to the other, using stardust to add a little sparkle to everything. Baskets of daisies brightened up the tables which were lined along the bleacher walls. At the door, each girl received a memory booklet to remember all the events that happened. Punch and cookies were on hand to offer refreshment to the dancers.

At ten o'clock, all seniors were asked to bring their dates to the stage gym for the Grand March, and as the hour of midnight approached, couples left for the many after-prom parties and breakfasts.

“And Now, Let’s Start With a Special . . .”

JC is famous for a lot of things — things like sports and bands and choirs all earn much recognition. But there’s something else just as famous (infamous, maybe?), at least among students here: Announcements. Yes, indeed. How could any loyal JC student possibly forget the Announcements over the PA system? Every day, second hour, the box hanging on every classroom wall crackles and says, “May I have your attention, please?” (In a voice that often sounds amazingly like Mr. Fleming’s). This must be the signal for the class to start talking (How many people a day ask you what was on Announcements that day and you don’t know?).

The next line to come from the immortal box is all too often, “And now we’ve got a couple of Specials.” The class suddenly breaks into a unison groan, “Oh, no!” This one part of Announcements is the one that will probably “live in infamy.” This one part separates the men from the boys (shall we say the cowards from the cards?). All the talent you could possibly find in the school is mustered up for these ingenious “Specials.” You can hear Red & Black girls singing, “Go and buy a Red & Black, Get it for only two dimes” to the tune of “Rudolph, the Red-Nose Reindeer” or “Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star, depending on the season. You may hear promos for a dance, a trip, fund-raising, Bike Day, Mardi Gras — you name it, it gets a Special. And the Special is always performed by two or three crazy club or committee members (What entertainment!).

Following the Special(s), the rest of the Announcements are read. Golf teams, baseball squads, and choruses get excused, Jayettes are warned about Friday’s game, editorials about student driving and energy conservation, reprimands for the poor behavior at the last Kewpie game, these all find a place on the announcements. After a few “To The Teacher” announcements, the box is silent.

But during the day, you may hear from it again. Sometimes it’ll be an announcement-correction. That’s all right. It’s when the buzzer for the grey phone in the room goes off that the silence is utterly shattered. No matter how many times a student has heard it go off, the buzz over that box always makes him jump!

If you don’t hear from it, the PA system may hear from you. Some teachers leave the class on an errand and have the office “listening in” which is a cross between being on radio and being tapped or bugged. What an experience!

Sometimes, office-intervention is actually nice. In study hall the office sometimes pipes in radio music. The box is also a fantastic target for paper wads — a little red paint for a bulls-eye would be perfect. It also acts as an obstacle for wall-walking flies and wallpaper hanger, too (why do you think all the walls are painted?) Yes, that little box does it all. But most of all, you must remember, it does the Announcements. Ah, the Announcements, where would JC be without the Announcements?

"It All Begins With Crayons"

"Some real dependable kids are Steve Griggs, Kathy Taube, Dana Baker, and Joey Drake," said Mrs. Jones, who is head of the art department. These people are the main artists in the junior class. Together these students have taken care of the art work for Capitol Caroling and the Marcullus Coronation. They also drew the covers of programs for various activities this year. For instance, Kathy Taube and Dana Baker drew pictures of each of the football and basketball players for the banquet.

Each of these students has entered nearly all of the contests. Steve Griggs won 2nd place in mixed media on sketch day and Joey Drake received an honorable mention on his water color painting. Mrs. Jones commented, "If anything needs to be done, you can always count on these people to get it done on time and to do a good job of it. They've done a great job this year."

Photojocks Snap!

"When are you going to get that picture for me, Steve?" "Have you printed those pictures yet, Jeff?" "What do you mean 'I lost the negatives'?!?!"

These are some of the more printable quotes put to the photographers by the Marcullus Staff. Our photojocks this year are Mike Cain, Tom Davis, John DeClue, Jeff Sanders, Steve Weston and Mike Winget. A yearbook wouldn't be a yearbook without pictures, and many times this year it seemed highly questionable as to whether or not our deadlines would be met, due to the lack of pictures. But the photographers always came through in a pinch. (That means they handed the yearbook staff a stack of sixty pictures on the same day as the layouts were due.)

Ah, how sweet it is! A free steak supper surrounded by hundreds of girls is one of the benefits enjoyed by Marcullus photographer Tom Davis.

No marching band would be complete without its spirited twirlers, and the Marching Jays are no exception. The two exuberant young ladies who complete the front line of the Marching Jays are Tricia Jones and Karen Vogler.

Tricia and Karen can be seen performing at all the home football games. They are very often featured on "stand and blow" numbers by the band. Alternating with the pom pon squad, the twirlers also attend many of the out-of-town games. Their lively routines add an extra spark of pep to the basketball games, pep assemblies and parades.

Two years ago, Mr. Hoover decided on a new look for the band, thus the pom pon squad was created. Because of the pom pon girls, a full squad of twirlers was no longer necessary, so feature twirlers were also added. Tricia and Karen were the first two girls to earn this position, one which they have both held for the past two years. Hard work and practice have paid off in their being able to achieve and keep the feature twirler positions.

Cards, Cards And More Cards

This is the age of computer technology. Computers are used for just about anything nowadays and keeping track of JC students is done with these mechanical brains, too. Did you know that every student at JC has a minimum of 49 computer-data cards? In four years, that makes 196 cards and isn't counting the various other cards that come in rainbow colors. There are green ones for overdue library books, the famous "blue card" for unexcused absence (but we don't EVER get those, do we?) There are cream-colored cards for regular attendance, pink ones for counselor appointments, and assembly-attendance both. Towards the end of the year, everyone gets a Porta-Punch card to vote for Marcullus court. And then there are the cards teachers use to get grades into the office at the end of each quarter. Those last four types of cards make up the required cards. Each student, in a year has a total of 12 attendance cards, 2 assembly cards, 24 grade cards, 2 health cards, one pre-enrollment McBee card, a counselor card, a Marcullus election card, and at least six book-registration cards.

As for blue cards, if a person were absent or tardy without an excuse for every hour of every day of a school year, he'd have 1,080 blue cards. That makes a possibility of 4,320 blue cards in high school. If you're REALLY bad, you might get a progress report, and there's a possibility of 24 of those. The same goes for incomplete grade cards.

To try and count all the cards in the building is an impossible task; the data-processing class have thousands of practice punch cards — at least the confetti business will be kept up.

Seniors '74

"I can't wait to get out of this school," is a typical phrase used by seniors, but really, all will feel a loss after graduation.

This year, the senior class president was Mark Smith, with Mark Nolte as vice-president, and Cindy Lochhead as secretary-treasurer. The three representatives were Terri McLaren, Wendell Wilson, and Kim Roy.

One of the projects sponsored by the class was the Senior vs. Underclassmen Powder Puff Football Game. The game started on a cold and misty afternoon. As the game progressed, clothing was piled on by the layers, and everyone ran like tin men. The seniors won by an enormous score, and everyone, even the underclassmen, had fun.

Other projects were the spaghetti supper at the All-School Carnival, and the winning class float in the homecoming parade.

Seniors Contribute to Youth Forum

Six seniors were given a chance to express their opinions on current issues in the Missouri Youth Legislative Forum. Jim McLaughlin, Mona Miller, Greg DeLong, Kevin Allen, Claudia Buse, and Janice Spurrier attended the Forum held at Ramada Inn on February 8. Also attending were juniors Eric Johnson, Debra Schnieder, Corrine White, and Renee Parker.

The students were split up into several discussion groups following an address by Governor Bond. In their groups they discussed the many points involved in five or six bills which were awaiting passage in the Missouri Legislature. There were other high school students at the Forum, coming from all over the state. They learned that the bills, 18-year-old rights and penal reform for instance, are not single bills, but are groups of several bills which must be considered separately.

Kevin Allen and Jim McLaughlin both attended a hearing in the State Legislature dealing with the bill concerning 18-year-old rights. "We learned the intricacies of how the Senate proposes and discusses a bill," Kevin remarked. He and Jim agreed it was a most interesting experience.

Janice Spurrier came away wishing "we could do more things that deal with youth in government." Claudia Buse found that she "learned to voice opinions, whether the opinions were for or against a certain bill."

Both Claudia and Janice, (pictured right) learned of the many problems a legislator faces in trying to pass bills.

All's Fair in Love, War, and the LUNCHLINE

The 11:30 bell rings — third hour is over. Students grab books and head for the door, a little faster than they left first or second hour classes. Once they're in the hall, the rush is on — Look out, America! Why all this rush? Are these students anxious for fourth hour? Are they practicing for next week's track meet? Is school over for the day? Is it the daily fire drill? Wrong on four counts, my friends. That bell means not only the end of third hour, but it also means LUNCHTIME!! And lunchtime means run and push. It means try to cram people fifteen abreast through cafeteria doors. It means don't drop your lunch money because quarters and dimes are hard to find under hundreds of shoes, boots, and sandals.

You have to hold your breath while you're squished body against body. When someone up front hollers, "QUIT PUSHING!" you holler back, "IT'S THE BACK THAT'S PUSHING!" and shove yourself as hard as you can against the people behind you. You butt in front of all the people who won't beat you up and then fight your way to the silverware. Once you've got your food, your fork, (if any were left), and your milk, and get it all paid for, your troubles are not over. Because now you have to find a chair that's not being saved. Once you get all settled, you have five minutes to eat (indigestion plus!) before the next class. In your rush, you'll probably leave some trash on your table. And then, what fun! J. Bob Estes will give you a whole week of cafeteria duty . . . if you survive lunch tomorrow.

“Celli of the World, Unite!”

Some know the violoncello as nothing but a four-stringed instrument or an oversized fiddle. Carol Elliott turns it into a vehicle of feelings and emotion.

Carol began studying cello in the fifth grade stringed instrument program, seven years ago. Since those “Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star” days, she has progressed through the junior and senior high orchestras as section leader and soloist. She is studying currently under Carleton Spotts at UMC; her other experience came from a teacher at Stephens College, where she played in the symphony orchestra for a time. She has been a member of the Jefferson City Symphony, directed by Mr. Burkel, for several years. This year, she gave a solo performance in an assembly presented by the Symphony.

For the past few summers, Carol has attended KU Music Camp at Lawrence, which is a six-week music study program. The program has a concentrated college-level repertoire, and the orchestra gives a concert a week, on the average.

Carol plans to attend the Music Conservatory at Oberlin College in Ohio.

*waiting for an answer
 i heard the sad news
 last nite; today i see wet, red eyes everywhere. couldn't we have some assurance that our friend is leaving to live in utopia forever? there would be no crying
 if we could understand death and eternal peace.
 we don't like to have this uncertainty in our lives.
 only you can answer and guide us,
 God.
 we are waiting*

What Me?

Study in Study Hall?

A lot can be said for study halls. When a guy's lucky, he gets into "free" study hall for a whole semester — but situations like that are rare. He usually gets at least a quarter of "jail" — supervised by a SSH-ing teacher (no FUN!) That spoil sport teacher keeps close tabs on all his (or her) wards, too. The students have to check out to leave the room, and check back in. They can't goof off, and study hall becomes just that — a place to study. But free study hall — what bliss!! With nobody around breathing down their necks, (besides an occasional visit from Mr. Adams) kids have a semi-party. What things go on — people playing cards, straw football, talking, singing, yelling — there's no room for studying or sleeping. Free study hall is generally in the cafeteria, and the office often pipes radio music in on the intercom which only adds to the noise and confusion. But then, no one is expected to be quiet, and no one expects anyone else to shut up either. The students wander to the candy machines in the lobby, visit classes in session, make phone calls and generally take it easy.

True luck is when a person gets free study hall just before or after lunch. That makes an entire hour and a half to eat — all the time in the world to get those JC Specials down. Even so, there's always next quarter coming up when free study hall is traded for jail, and vice versa, and depending on individual situation, the student with study hall may or may not look forward to it.

Who knows, there may come the day when all study halls come to be created equal — free and equal, that is.

Sharla Gives Time, Talent and Love to MD Camp

When you first meet Sharla Boyce, you know she is a very special and loving person. She is one of a group of Missouri teens who gives her time to help out the muscular dystrophy camp at Lake Windermere. What follows is her personal account of her experience.

"The feeling about MD Camp is inexpressible. The people worked together well, and an atmosphere of love was always present. When I first arrived at Windermere I was a little frightened because I didn't know what to expect.

"I met 'my little girl' Karen, and started to try to establish a relationship."

"We were assigned to cabins of five 'campers' and their attendants and a unit leader. During the week we took part in different activities including arts and crafts, archery, swimming, and volleyball. Each activity had facilities to handle the wheelchairs; for instance, tracks were set up to go into water to help the larger wheelchair patients. Volleyball was played with a beachball because of the weak arms. Every night we had a time where everybody got together for song and fun."

"By the end of the week everyone was tired and happy."

"I feel this camp is good for everyone concerned. Everybody learns to get along with new people. It is an experience I shall never forget nor will I want to."

"It taught me a lot about love, life, and true happiness in my own life."

Streakers

Hampered by Weird Weather

Spring 1974 just may be a time that will live in history as the season of the revival of streaking. Streaking is an old college custom associated with fraternity/sorority hazing, and it's been known to occur on various and sundry midnights for many years. This year saw a sudden upsurge in the number of streaks, and a new fad was born. Though JC itself was never streaked, Jeff City saw its share of runners in the raw. Some JC grads were reported streaking at universities once, and then coming home for spring break and a quick unclad trip around the block. The rage was certainly talked about around school and the dozens of stories streaked from student to student. Those stories about streakers streaking TV shows, the Academy Awards, police stations, basketball games, about streaking on 10-speed bikes, horses, and motorcycles, and all the streak records set got good laughs.

Actually, the big furor over this unique pastime didn't occur in spring-proper, but rather before spring ever started. '74 was the year of Weird Weather. A sudden damper descended upon would-be streakers when four inches of snow fell on the first day of spring, March 21. Streaking was reduced to short sprints in long johns; the chickens didn't even venture out into the sub-freezing temperatures. When the warmth returned, the novelty was gone from the streak and the whole thing subsided. Clothes went back onto naked bodies, and all naked persons were arrested as before, which only goes to show that if God had meant us to streak, He would have created us naked.

AFS Sponsors Lieve

For the past several years, students at JC have welcomed an AFS student. This year, Lieve Clymans made her home with Sharon Swails and her family.

"It was our pleasure to be selected as the host home for JC High's AFS student. We learned quickly Lieve's interests centered in art, food, poetry, and photography. Because she had already graduated from high school in Belgium, studies were not her first love.

"Her ambition, to write a novel of her visit in America, will undoubtedly be filled with great memories of JC."

American Field Service is a valuable experience for all those who have the opportunity to become involved with the program. Through continued interest and participation, the AFS program will remain a meaningful contribution to JC.

Sticky. Mushy. Goey. That's bubble gum, the nemesis to the sanity of teachers. A nemesis? you ask. Why yes — teachers detest bubble gum by nature. How many teachers have you seen who have said on that First Day in class, "I don't mind at all if you chew gum!"? A thousand say that, you're right — but they ALWAYS tack on that cute little zinger: "... as long as you don't blow bubbles, pop it, or crack it. And what kind of fun is bubble gum when you can't do a thing with it except chew? None at all. But just chewing is better than no gum at all. "All right, you come and spit that gum out," says the teacher — and then she even checks twice to be sure you really threw it into the trashcan.

But gum is gorgeous. Trying to get it unstuck from your nose is half the fun of blowing bubbles. Gum is nerve-soothing. During a spelling bee, when it's getting down to the line, you chew faster and the contest seems to get easier. Gum displays emotion. When you're really disgusted with an ignorant exam, you can chew it in a stuck-up and thoroughly disgusted way if the teacher looks at you. And don't forget how fast you can chomp when you're mad. Gum can make friends. How many times a day do Beautiful People ask you for gum? Gum can even solve 12:30 lunch troubles. When you're really getting hungry during fourth hour, you can swallow it, if you have the guts. The gum will stick with you for seven years in your stomach, you know. Despite all this wonderful, wonderful potential gum has, getting stuck in wads under tables and chairs, as well as people's hair, teachers STILL hate it. Can't see why. Great stuff, that gum. Well — some day they'll learn.

Roger Prepares for Career

"One of the hardest working students I know is Roger Pringer," said Mr. Linhardt, referring to Roger's volunteer work in the apprenticeship program at JC. This program consists of four years of apprenticeship classes followed by a test which covers everything studied in those four years.

Currently, Roger works at the Superior Metal Systems on North Ten Mile Drive, where he does general work such as putting in heating and air conditioning, and helping with decking work.

Roger, pictured right, plans to go on in the apprenticeship program and become a sheet metal journeyman.

Individualism Dictates Fashion At JC

In days gone by, clothing styles were dictated by the Queen, by Paris designers, or by fashion magazines. Today, "individualism" is the key word in clothes. To walk around JC is to see virtually every type of apparel that designers have ever dreamed up. The male wears not only T-shirts and blue jeans (which may be considered designers' nightmares!) but also colorfully tie-dyed shirts, plaid baggies, and clunky 2" heels on shoes. His female counterpart has a slightly wider choice in her wardrobe. Like the guys, a gal often shows up in her own workshirt and jeans. But many, many wear mini-skirts, granny-style floor length dresses, and the familiar calf-length skirt. Girls more often as not come to school in a layered look outfit: sweater, blouse, and baggies. "Radical" shoes, those orthopedic horrors — platforms — formed a mod base (steady or not) for many slacks and skirts.

Uni-sexism in the form of football jerseys, overalls, and even ties was evident. When asked about the strange loose look of her socks, a girl could often be heard to say, "Oh, this? This is my dad's (or my brother's, or my uncle's)." However, the day has not yet arrived when a male JC student walks into school carrying his mother's purse.

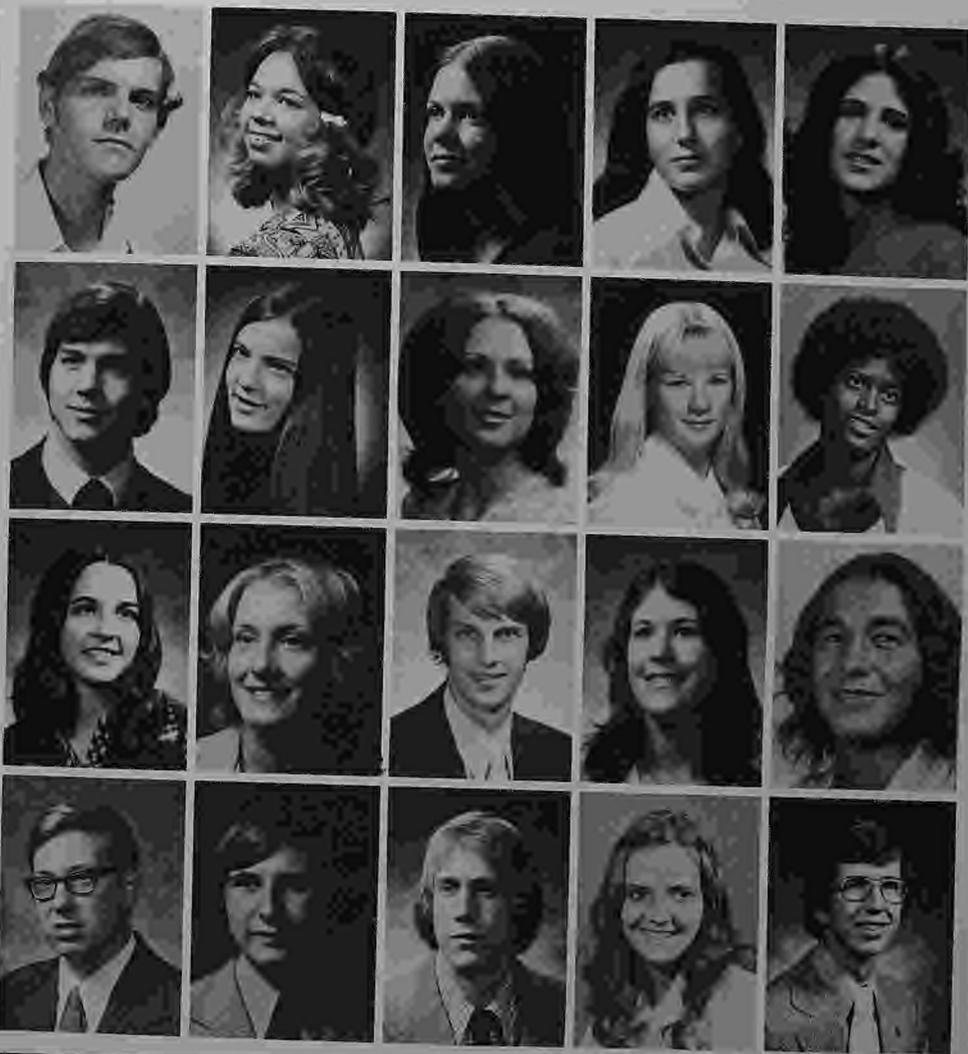

Now, when a parent exclaims, "AARGH! Is that a boy or a girl?!", he can finally be justified — in part.

Barry And Gary — the Musical Twins

Parents are constantly complaining about the 6:30 a.m. band practices. Having one Banddandy in a family is enough, but can you imagine being the parents of a set of twin Banddandies? But through all of the years of early practices, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders have gotten their twins not only to regular rehearsals, but also to assorted Jazz Band rehearsals. Barry and Gary Sanders are certainly not an ordinary set of twins. It is not uncommon for a set of twins to have one musically inclined member, or for both to be somewhat musically talented, or for both to be talented with one being more prominent. But it is rare when a set of twins is as talented as Gary and Barry Sanders are. Both are leaders in their sections.

Gary has been the pianist for the Jazz Band for the past 2 years. He has played the piano on several special occasions for luncheons, talent contests, and other special performances. Gary is an expert at the keyboard although he's only been playing for 4 years. Arranging, as well as writing, are also among his list of credits. In the band Gary plays a clarinet. The clarinet and the piano are not the only instruments that Gary plays — altogether, he plays a total of 10 different instruments. Because of his experience in so many different types of music, he can certainly be classified as a well-rounded musician.

Barry is famous for his high range trumpet playing. On a crisp, clear morning at early band practice, the high notes pierce through the air and can be heard above all the rest of the Marching Banddandies. As lead trumpet for the Jazz Band for the past 2 years, Barry is probably most remembered for his professional quality solos with the Jazz Band. This spring he was featured as soloist with the concert Band on their tour and various other performances. He played an arrangement of the "La Virgen de la Macrena" with band accompaniment. Barry also plays more than just the trumpet — 5 instruments in all.

Although their looks are not identical, their musical talent very nearly is. Both would very much like to go into professional music as a career.

Say It On Your Bumper!

Fashion crazes, sayings, and slang expressions, are all fads that come and go almost as quickly as the seasons. But there is one fad that has been around as long as automobiles themselves. That fad is bumper stickers. They are found in all sizes, shapes, colors, and places. Fortunes are now being made from these popular bits of paper. Everything from what group you belong to or support or patriotism or humor or, yes, even which insurance company you buy from is displayed on a bumper sticker.

"America, love it or leave it,"

"I'm a Banddandy,"

"Super-Jays," and

"Milk drinkers are better lovers," are just a few of the many such slogans that can be found on the bumpers of cars everywhere. There are even companies that will print a personalized bumper sticker.

It has gotten so that the bumper of a car is one of the best places to advertise anything. So if you have something you think should be heard, why not say it on your bumper.

Not an End, But a Beginning

The sun has set on another day.
 But this is not just "another" day.
 It is the day you've been waiting for, for years;
 You've been given your diploma — you're free.

That protection of high school is gone.
 Now you have to make some decisions —
 Decisions that may alter your entire future.
 Suddenly you're not so sure you want it all to end.

You look back with deep and mixed emotions.
 Remember — Your first marching practice,
 The day you got your license, that wet homecoming,
 The operettas, and don't forget the prom — it's over.

So much has happened in the past four years.
 It's hard to let go to face the future
 But there's a whole other world out there
 Just waiting for you to experience it.

This is not an end, but a brand new beginning.
 "Onward, ye peoples, strive for the light."
 Each time the sun sets, it rises again on a new horizon.
 That new horizon promises to be a beautiful experience.

1974 was a year of involvement at JC. Encouraged by a fall Go-Week assembly, students joined the many clubs in various fields. But students were not the only people who joined the action. The faculty, whether as a sponsor or just a plain participant, shed their everyday teaching roles and became involved. Through their involvement much more was attained at JC in projects and in bridging the generation gap.

Academics and Organizations

Dedicated to Mrs. Brakke

"In every way possible, Mom has opened her heart and her home to us, her journalism students. Maybe that's why we wanted to be her cheering section at Columbia when she received the State Journalism Teacher of the Year Award."

The time, devotion, and energy of Mrs. Helen Jewell Brakke toward the field of journalism for the past twelve years has earned her the respect and nomination by her students for the 1974 State Journalism Teacher Award. The award was presented at the MU journalism awards ceremony held in early April, highlighting a successful career for Mrs. Brakke. Other honors include being the runner up to the 1973 State Journalism Educators Association Teacher's award.

Although she spends her days teaching English and journalism classes at JC, Mrs. Brakke still finds time to help others. Each summer she works with journalism students at a two-week workshop at MU. She has assisted in various area journalism workshops in Warrensburg, Columbia, and Springfield during the school year. Through all this she also finds time to teach adult night school and elementary summer school.

During her teaching profession, Mrs. Brakke has lent her talents and services to the Jefferson City Community Teachers Association, the Missouri State Teachers Association, the Missouri Association of Teachers of English, and the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association. She is presently regional director of the Journalism Education Association and sponsors the Quill and Scroll at JC.

Her students have learned from her and she has learned from them. Their ideas together have made JC's paper, the Red and Black, one of the most highly regarded papers in the state. In recent years, the paper has received both All-Missouri and All-American ratings. Because she lives for and with her students, we dedicate the 1974 Marcullus to "Mom."

Board Approves Proposal for New Building

The 1972 Board of Education took the first step toward the new vocational building when they approved the proposal for the construction of the building.

It was approved by district voters in the bond election in November. Voters re-elected John Morris and Helen Aldridge to the school-board.

To better acquaint parents with the school system, a night was set aside for Mr. Fleming to discuss policies and answer questions.

All-School Carnival Finances Improvements

The courtyard is an ideal place for students to soak up the rays of the sun during the warm months, and has even been used for recreation during the winter. The only thing wrong with our lovely courtyard was the fountain, it was always dry. The student body voted to repair the fountain by putting a statue in and fixing the pump. The proceeds from the All-School Carnival provided funds to finance this project.

Money from the All-School Carnival will also be used to buy more benches for the hall and fix the acoustics in the gym.

Special Interest Groups Show 'Special Interests'

This year, the Student Council voted to support the special interest groups of the school. These groups are unlike the other club organizations in that they have no written constitution or rules. In order to gain pages in the Marcullus, they would need both of these plus be voted in by the Student Council. StuCo realized that although they haven't been ordained by the school, enough students are involved in them for the clubs to gain recognition. This is why they are being sponsored this year. The special interest groups for the 1973-74 school year are Chess Club, Rifle Club, and Bowling Club.

JC Students Win Art Recognition

First semester art students got a treat this year when they attended an art exhibition at Favour-Barr in St. Louis. The students, who had to have an S average to go, chartered three buses to see the exhibition. They also toured the St. Louis Cathedral and the City Art Museum.

Twelve JC students won recognition in the 1974 Eastern Missouri Regional Scholastic Art Contest held in St. Louis on February 6. Marcia Wright won the Hallmark Honor Award and was one of the five entries from the region in the national contest held in May. Blue ribbon winners were Carla Craig, Darrell Hiatte, Joyce Brown, and Emily Leonard. The Gold Key Award went to Lorna Helmig while Steve Weston received two Honorable Mentions. Sue Beck, Sherry Sharp, Lorna Helmig, Debbie Zyla, and Lisa Lilley also received Honorable Mentions.

Club Treats Teachers

Mrs. Jones and Mr. O'Neal were the sponsors of Art Club which this year hosted the faculty Christmas dinner. Each teacher was allowed to select from paintings created by Art Club members and Mrs. Jones. The teachers were also given bags of art materials, out of which to construct a centerpiece for their tables.

The Art Club members made megaphones to sell at Homecoming. A Christmas boutique consisted of art work done by the members. All of the profits from the boutique went to the individuals who participated.

The Art Club held its annual street fair at the Freshman High parking lot. Each regular member had to have at least five pictures while each probationary member had to have at least three pictures for sale. The money collected from the sales was kept by the young artists.

The Art Club also sponsored Simonsen sketch day. Members of the Art Club organized this activity with the help of Mrs. Jones and Mr. O'Neal. The Simonsen students started out at 8:00 in the morning and turned their finished pictures in at 10:30. That night members of the Art Club and participants in the contest enjoyed a banquet. Awards were presented at the banquet.

Business Students Learn Helpful Skills

The business department prepares students for a future career in business. Teachers try to give the students a foundation from which to build various skills such as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and basic business. Students are offered vocational courses which last two hours; including office machines, office practice, and secretarial practice. Students find that their typing and shorthand skills also help them in other classes.

Future Business Leaders of America Sponsors Contestant Entries

In its ninth year at Senior High, the FBLA continued to acquaint young people with the business world. To make money the group sold stationery, and from those proceeds gave a $100 scholarship to an outstanding FBLA member. For the highlights of the year, the group visited several large firms in Kansas City. They also sponsored a group to the district and state contests for business students. The FBLA sponsors are Mrs. Clarice Kohen, Mrs. Barabra Venz, and Mrs. Carol Warren.

Students Learn Trades in Industrial Arts And

Students in Industrial Arts and Vocational Classes gain practical experience which enables them to select a job or career for the future. Vocational Arts students carry out projects such as rebuilding cars, building a house, or learning to operate the data processing equipment. Students in Auto Mechanics and Building Trades work on projects three hours a day. Courses in metal working, drafting, woodworking, and power mechanics are offered in Industrial Arts to students who would like to explore these areas.

COE Banquet Thanks Employers

COE is an organization and a class. The letters stand for Cooperative Occupational Education. COE does just that. It gets the students ready for employment, used to the world of work, and teaches them basic skills. As a class they learn about those jobs related to the distribution of goods and services. Each student is placed in a job exactly or similar to the one he wants when he's out of school. The student starts on beginning levels and then works himself up. Evaluation of the student comes from both the teacher and the employer.

The club forms a social background for the students, which they lose when their jobs conflict with other school organizations. The club is run by an executive board which has two members from each class and a president. Some of the club's activities were a Homecoming float, their own Thanksgiving project where they gave food to some needy people, the Cat in the Hat booth at the All School Carnival, a trip in May that took them to the School of the Ozarks at Point Lookout, Mo., Table Rock Dam, Silver Dollar City, and shopping in Springfield. They also had a picnic in May followed by a hayride.

The biggest activity of the year was the COE Banquet. Every COE member was involved; the purpose of the banquet is to thank the employers for their cooperation and give them something for all of their work. The banquet theme was "People Helping People."

Energy Crisis Affects Young Drivers

Even in the midst of the energy crisis, the Driver's Education department maintained its standards. The students were a bit more uncomfortable as a result of smaller cars donated to help conserve gas. Four days a week students learned the rules of the road in the classroom while one day a week they were "turned loose" for driving experience.

The Safety Club, sponsored by Mr. Jones, helped to promote safe driving habits. Car washes and bake sales were among the activities members participated in. The money from these activities helped fund the trip to the annual Safety Club Convention.

Marcullus Takes On New Look

Selling ads, gathering information, writing copy, taking pictures, making layouts, identifying people, writing captions, typing, DEADLINES, cropping pictures, and, of course, selling yearbooks were some of the jobs of the Marcullus Staff.

The Marcullus was divided into sections with an editor for each section. Mary Herrmann was the editor of Sports and Activities. This section did all the layouts for sports such as football, basketball, and tennis; and activities such as Homecoming, fall and spring plays, and Prom.

Because of the new look of the advertising section, it was given a new title — Public Relations. This section used pictures to advertise the business and captions to explain them. The Public Relations staff was headed by Cathy Ferguson; she was also in charge of the campaign to sell yearbooks.

Another new feature of the Marcullus was an Index. Lu Ann Whitaker was in charge of this section.

The Class section of the yearbook was headed by Judy Gentili. Besides the pictures of each student, they also were in charge of listing senior activities.

This year the Faculty and Organization sections were combined. This section was headed by Debbie Miller (Faculty) and Claudia Buse (Organizations). The pages were arranged by departments and followed by the organization(s) that stemmed from that department such as Art Department, Art Club. A new feature of the Faculty section was candid shots of the teachers instead of studio pictures. The Organizations Staff had the job of taking the group pictures, identifying the people in them, researching for interesting copy and putting all of this together in an interesting way.

The photographers this year were Steve Weston, Jeff Sanders, John DeClue, Tom Davis, Mike Cain, and Mike Winget. They were kept busy taking, developing, and printing pictures, especially close to deadlines.

Cathy Monaco was the editor of the Marcullus. She had most of the ideas for the book, and did the introduction, dedication, division and conclusion pages. Cathy also assisted everyone with their layouts.

Miss Bish was the Advisor of the Staff. She was always there when we needed her, and she always had a smile on her face no matter how late she had stayed up the night before, proofreading copy.

Although the Staff had a lot of work, they still found time to have fun. Saturday morning work sessions (remember the doughnuts?), bake sales (Sherman, you still owe $2), a Christmas party, and a picnic were among their other activities.

Journalists Initiated

December 5, 1973, was the first time to initiate radio-broadcasting students into Quill & Scroll. Outstanding newspaper and yearbook students were also recognized at this time as dedicated high school journalists. A candlelight initiation was held in the library with a reception afterwards. Quill and Scroll members also celebrated with a formal Christmas dinner. At the spring awards banquet, students were recognized for outstanding journalistic work during the year.

Quill & Scroll Sponsors Who's Who Contest

For the first time this year the Quill and Scroll sponsored a Who's Who contest for JC covering four aspects of student life — sports, academics, organizations, and an outstanding student chosen from each class. The Quill and Scroll officers asked the coaches to choose an outstanding athlete. They elected Jim Humphreys (6). Laura Freeman (4) was chosen by the faculty as the outstanding student academically.

The Student Council voted for one outstanding club member from a list of nominees presented by the club advisor and president. Debbie Braun (1) president of Jayettes was elected.

The outstanding students were chosen by their class members on the basis of honesty and leadership. David Hall (2) was elected by the freshmen, Sarah Dawson (5) is the outstanding student from the sophomore class, John DeClue (3) represents the juniors and Jim Stanford (7) is the outstanding student from the senior class.

Can-Can Girls Kick Up a Storm

"The goal of the French Club was to encourage an appreciation of the French culture and its influence on our present day lives," reported Mrs. Ravenhill, the club's sponsor. The major activity of the French Club was the Mardi Gras. The event consisted of a costume contest followed by dinner. The highlight of the evening was entertainment provided by the high stepping Can-Can girls.

Much time and effort was expended by club members on their Homecoming float, entitled Sole Train. The French Club had a candlelight initiation with the new members presenting short skits in French.

Frogs Help Latins

Rana the frog, the mascot of Latin Club, inspired its followers to "share in a piece of excellence" that Mr. James Farris has tried to give them.

Several stuffed and ceramic frogs rode on the Latin Club's prize-winning float and attended the initiation and the rest of the meetings. At Christmas the "Latins" put up a traditional tree in the room, and in January, Rana witnessed the winning of the 2nd annual JC Player/Latin Club Scholar Bowl.

Valentines were the project in February, and they were sent to the patients of St. Mary's hospital.

The rest of the year was also a success for the followers of the frog as the Latins went bowling, attended the state convention, and held their spring picnic.

Spanish Club Visits 'Neighbor to the South'

It's one thing to learn and study Spanish in an American classroom, but quite another to witness it in actual living conditions. That is the opportunity members of the Spanish Club had — to visit grand ole' Mexico! They were given the chance to show themselves, as well as their teacher, how much practical Spanish they had learned in school. By associating with the Mexican people, they not only experienced on a first-hand basis the language, but also the culture and character of the people. Although they traveled no further than Monterrey, they got a good idea of the Mexican way of life. It was, indeed, a most educational trip; and as one Spanish student put it, "It was a trip I'll never forget!"

4. Spanish Club celebrated their initiation with a pot luck dinner. 5. At Freshman, Mrs. Baker wonders what an English book is doing in a Spanish Class.

History Teachers Don't Live in the Past

By working with individuals the History Department has been able to give students a better understanding of the future. Teachers in the department use team-teaching techniques to present phases of history to students.

Learning about the past is one of the best ways a student can relate to the present and learn to work with the world in which he lives.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors learn about past events, while seniors relate to present-day problems.

Convention Highlights Year

The highlight of the American Field Service Organization was the State Convention that was held November 2 and 3 at Senior High. Over 40 countries were represented by 125 students from various parts of the state. The convention opened with a meeting at which Senator Thomas Eagleton spoke and answered questions that were raised. The students attended a luncheon after which they went for a tour of the capitol. To finalize the day, the foreign exchange students attended a mixer which featured the JC Jazz Band.

The officers for the 73-74 year were: President Russell Rottman, Vice-President Susie Bregant, Mark Smith, Sec.-Treas., and Robin Merrick, Publicity Chairman.

This year marked many changes for JC's branch of the National Honor Society.

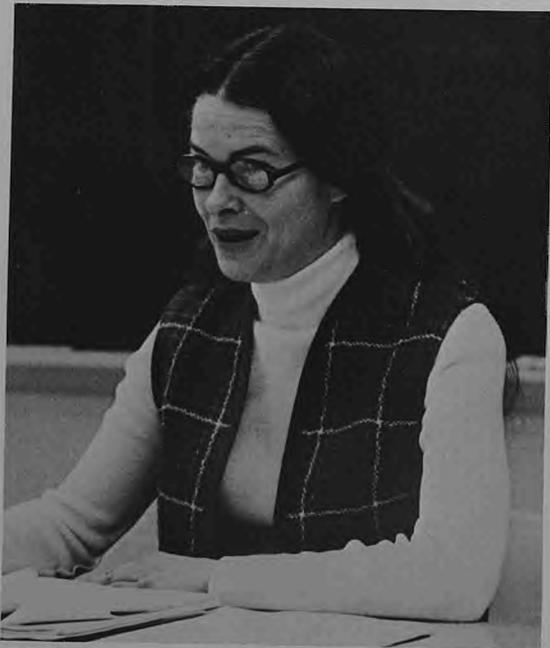

The major change came about this spring when a change in the constitution was passed allowing sophomores to become full-fledged members instead of just probationary members.

Another change came when Mrs. Lee left, making Mr. Gerling the club sponsor.

JC Library Forms Audio-Visual Club to Extend Services

The library's main purpose is to serve the student. From eight in the morning until four in the afternoon, you are welcome to come in. You may sit and read a newspaper, complete forgotten homework, check out books and magazines, or listen to the library's new stereo.

For students interested in working with film projectors, video tape machines, and other audio visual equipment, the audio visual club has been formed. Their main objective is service. Some of the more difficult equipment such as the video tape camera and recorder require a certain amount of training. Club members would like to be able to have forms for teachers to fill out, stating what kind of equipment they need. One of the members would be in charge of setting up and running the equipment for the teacher. Mrs. Hiatte is the club sponsor.

Math Students Gain a Background for Future Education

The Math Department is designed to help the students in everyday experiences and to give them a background for college classes. For everyday problems a student is offered high school arithmetic and geometry. If planning to continue into higher mathematics, you can take Algebra II, Statistics, and others.

This year the Math Club exercised a new idea of reaching out to students needing special help in the mathematics field. Members of the club and Mr. Templeton, sponsor, offered tutoring service to students on an after-school basis.

Music Students Perform At Various Activities

Band, vocal music and orchestra have, both on their own and with a combined effort, provided enjoyable programs this year.

The band won several awards, including a five-foot first-place trophy. Marching and Pep Band members furnished entertainment during halftime for the football and basketball games.

The holiday season provided an opportunity for the Choir and Chorale to perform for various clubs and organizations.

The Orchestra presented two concerts and played in the pit for the operetta.

The Choir, Chorale and Orchestra combined to present selections at the Spring Concert in May.

Five Foot Trophy Won by Marching Band

Band is one of the many yearly classes which requires extracurricular activities five days a week, four weeks a month, and ten months a year. To the 200-member band, that's a lot of work. They work hard because the rewards are great — the halftime shows at home football games, MU pregame shows, parades, and state marching contests. One of the greatest rewards received this year was the SMS five-foot traveling trophy, which isn't traveling anymore. Its permanent home is within the Jefferson City Senior High band room. It took three years of work, sweat, and pressure to win the coveted trophy. To the kids, it was worth every pleasant and unpleasant moment. It's there now, too big for the present trophy case, and it will stay there as long as there is a JC Senior High School.

1. Andrea Hoard and Julie Renken admire the five-foot trophy won at SMS. 2. The JC Marching Band was invited to perform at the MU pregame show. Using a patriotic theme, the USA formation was one which was used by the band this year.

Freshmen Win Trophy

The upper classmen of Jefferson City High School can look with pride to the achievements of the less experienced Freshman band. They won first place at the Lebanon marching band contest and acquired the traveling trophy permanently. The Studio band, Freshman's jazz band, has also received many awards. At the Lebanon and Kirksville contests, they won first place in their category.

Choirs Carry On Traditions

What is it you think of when the choir is mentioned? Is it Capitol Caroling, is it the operetta or is it any other of their numerous performances?

The Varsity Choir, which is made up of sophomore boys and the junior choir members, along with the Concert Choir, which consists of seniors and Chorale members. They gave many performances, sang at the Governors Gardens, for Veterans Day, at the Easter Assembly, at a Downtown Concert for the Ministerial Alliance, and at the annual Spring Concert.

The Varsity Choir and the Beginning Choir, which is composed of sophomore girls, along with the junior Chorale members sang during Baccalaureate.

The Freshman Choir, under the direction of Mr. Healy, had their own Spring Concert and put on two assemblies at Freshman High.

All the choirs have many traditional performances each year.

Chorale Sings for Local Clubs

Juniors and seniors who tried out and were selected by Mr. Burkel made up this year's Chorale.

Their dedication was shown throughout the practice season, as the Chorale rehearsed every Tuesday and Thursday morning.

Last fall, the Chorale traveled to the Osage House at the Lake of the Ozarks to sing for the National Convention on Highway Safety. They also sang for several local clubs: the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis and the Lions were a few. They sang at the Faculty Christmas Dinner, Capitol Caroling, grade schools, and the Marcellus Coronation. High-lights of the year were singing at the Governor's Mansion during Christmas, and a trip to St. James Boystown at Meramac Springs.

Whether in their robes or in white coats and long dresses, the Chorale always gave a good performance.

Mob Invades Senior High

No, the Syndicate did not invade JC this year; those black violin cases you saw around the hall belonged to some of the members of the Orchestra.

Twenty-two members belonged to this mob, with occasional back-up members of the Varsity Band. They were under the direction of Mr. Gentzch, better known by his code name of Mr. Grinch.

They appeared at two concerts here at school and for the Beta Sigma Phi Convention. They accompanied the choir at Capitol Caroling, the operetta, and their Spring Concert. They left the building in the spring to appear before several elementary schools.

So, if you saw a violin case this year, you needn't fear; it wasn't a machine gun, just a violin.

Physical Fitness Stressed in Physical Ed. Program

The JC Physical Education program consists of various activities. Outdoor sports such as football, soccer, tennis, track, archery and softball are covered in fall and spring. Indoor activity includes gymnastics, basketball, and volleyball. Students are bused to local bowling alleys for several weeks of instruction. At Freshman, the pool is used for a unit on proper swimming techniques. The program is designed to strengthen young people's physical coordination and abilities.

GAA Does More Than Jumping-Jacks

Even basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, badminton, bowling, ice skating, roller skating, and gymnastics can't use up all of the energy of an active GAA member.

The Girls Athletic Association did much more than athletics this year. GAA held several bake sales and sponsored an April Fools' Day powderpuff basketball game to increase the club treasury. They also had a service project this year; they helped collect funds during the Muscular Dystrophy campaign.

All these projects, a homecoming float, and weekly meetings still didn't wear out these active girls. They went to see a water ballet in Columbia and finished the year with a day at Worlds of Fun in Kansas City.

Seniors Remember Year's Activities

Tears of sadness and memories filled the eyes of seniors as they formed the sisterhood circle to sing the Alma Mater at the Jayette barbeque. They remembered things like the Homecoming halftime show and all the early morning practices leading up to it, football games where once 500 Jayettes sat in pouring rain to cheer the team to victory, basketball games where they tromped through snow and slid on ice to get to the gym, and cheering at wrestling matches under the leadership of wrestling cheerleaders for the first time.

Jayettes also "seat saved", went to extra out-of-town games, served at banquets, made signs, and worked in concession stands to earn merits. Betty Ruth had more merits than any other Jayette; she received the Top Jayette award. The other "Top Ten" in order were Cathy Ferguson, Janet Beck, Carol Burre, Cindy Glavan, Debbie Alred, Kim Underwood, Mary Wyrick, Judy Gentili, and Sandy Braun.

Organizing 525 Jayettes took a lot of work for President Debbie Braun. Assisting her were Cheryl Akre, vice president; Ann Gensky and Cheryl Oliver, secretaries; and Joyce Constance, treasurer. Members of the Jayette Council were Karen Lahmeyer, Joyce Brown, Cindy Hunter, Colette Cross, Sandy Braun, Janell Clark, Cindy Burd, and Lisa Bowman.

Lettermen Serve JC

The Lettermen's Club is a service organization composed of JC's outstanding young male athletes, who have earned varsity letters in cross country, football, basketball, wrestling, track, baseball, tennis, or golf. The boys serve the school by guarding ropes at football games, sweeping floors at basketball games, and helping with other athletic events.

Leading Homecoming Parade Tradition for ROTC

The ROTC led the Homecoming and Christmas parades this year. They also presented the colors at all of the football and basketball games.

The purpose of the Air Force ROTC is to teach the cadets the fundamentals of aerospace science. The ROTC also trains the cadets for future military service. Scholarships are available in the graduate ROTC program for any cadet wishing to continue his education.

During the 1974 school year, girls will be accepted in the ROTC program at J C for the first time. Although seniors Sherri Akre, Janis Scheperle and Cathy Ferguson will not be in the Senior High ROTC program, they discuss with visiting recruiters about the ROTC programs offered at various colleges (3).

ROTC Colorguard Participates in School

Assemblies

The ROTC presented the colors at assemblies at Senior and Freshman High throughout the year. The cadets were also in charge of raising the flags before school each morning.

The Air Force ROTC is becoming a large part of J.C. Seven years ago the program was started with 109 cadets. Today, with Col. Bobby R. Taylor and M/Sgt. Leon Benton, the program includes 105 cadets. According to Col. Taylor, the objective for the 1973-74 school year is "to improve in all areas possible and to make this the finest year in the seven years ROTC has been at J.C."

ROTC Competes in Statewide Drill Competition

The ROTC drill team competed in the statewide drill competition again this year. Other entries were from high schools, colleges, universities, and military schools throughout the state. JC's drill team was composed of sixteen cadets led by Cadet Major Richard Duncan. Although the team did not place, Colonel Taylor commented, "I was very proud of our cadets; they made an excellent showing."

Another highlight in the ROTC program was the awards banquet, which had Lieutenant Cam Fine as special guest speaker. Lieutenant Fine was the first ROTC cadet commander at JC, and he is presently serving with the National Guard. The purpose of the banquet was to decorate the cadets who showed outstanding abilities in the military field.

Students Take Mini-Nature Course

Making use of the streams and woods near the football fields, the science classes took a mini-nature course on the study of plants and animals.

Biology, physical science, chemistry and physics acquaint the student with the fundamental knowledge of sciences. The students take a personal scientific interest in electronics and photography. The science program is believed to have an interest in the standpoint of a hobby as well as college preparation.

Science Club Breaks Record

In spite of the ice storm, 72 members of the Science Club collected more money than ever on the M.S. Drive.

Other Science Club events included listening to an anesthesiologist who had experienced acupuncture, an astronomer who spoke on comets, and a debate about the Calloway County nuclear power plant. They also discussed plans for the JC Natural Area behind the stadium, monitored noise levels at dances and assemblies. They heard speakers on bee keeping, edible wild plants, and endangered wildlife. Science Club participated in Homecoming, the all-school carnival, and visited Silver Dollar City to see Marvel Cave.

Adds Class in Radio Broadcasting

This year's Speech Department expanded to include a new Radio Broadcasting class headed by Mr. Anderson. Students operated radio station KLUM-FM for one hour after school each day and ran the station for Lincoln University during their Christmas vacation.

A new face in the department is Mrs. Berry. Last year she taught English at JC. Now she teaches Beginning Speech and Beginning Drama as well as English.

The purpose of Speech is to teach young people to communicate with others while developing the fundamentals of acting and gaining stage experience.

Debate Teaches Techniques Of Persuasion

If you're a McGovern fan, then the 1973-74 debate topic would probably interest you. The debate team has traveled to schools in St. Louis, Springfield, and Kansas City to argue for and against a federally-funded guaranteed annual income.

Debate is a class in which you learn to discuss both sides of an argument in an organized fashion. A debate consists of two teams, each composed of two speakers, arguing their side of the topic according to a certain format and within a specific amount of time. There is also time allotted for each speaker to be cross-examined by the opposition. The speakers are judged on the basis of organization, fluency, evidence (documented support from magazines and books by authors professionally known in that field), and persuasiveness.

Players Get Involved in Drama And Theatre

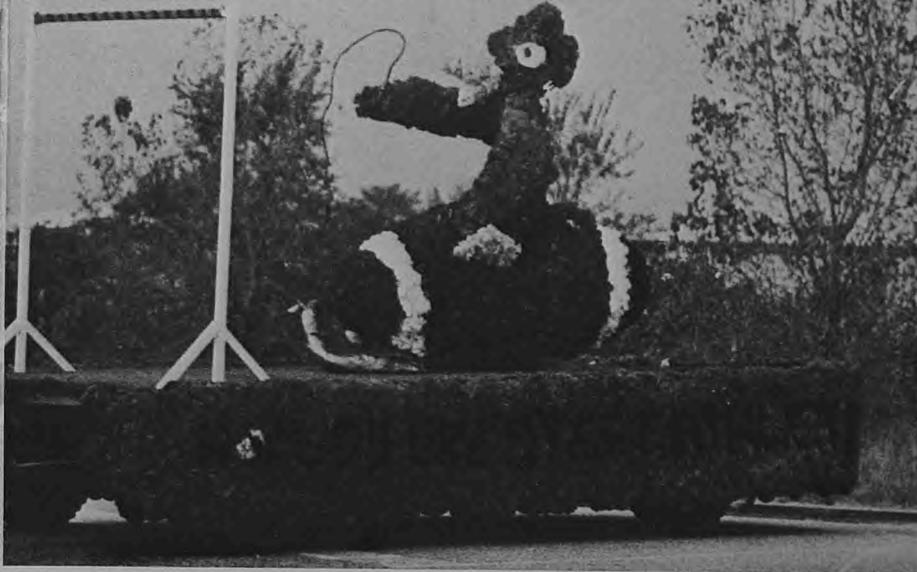

Drama and the theatre is the main purpose for JC Players. Hours of work were spent by many members to make the fall play "1984", and the spring play, "Cheaper by the Dozen," successes.

Members of JC Players participated in Thespians Evening of Drama, and assisted with the sound, backstage and lighting for the operetta. At Homecoming a float was prepared by the Players. Members also participated in the Hunger-walk-a-thon as a service project. The fall play was directed by Mr. Anderson with Kim Roy as student director. Mrs. Berry and student director Lorna Helming took charge of the spring play. To top off the year a spring awards banquet and a picnic were held.

Players Earn Merits

To remain an "active member" of JC Players students must earn at least 30 merits a semester. Most of this is accomplished by working on the two major productions every year. Besides receiving merits for on stage acting and rehearsal time students also receive merits for committee production work. These committees include properties, costumes, make-up, technical, usher, tickets, and publicity. An activities committee plans and coordinates all events JC Players participate in every year.

Thespians Contribute to Theatre Productions

Being the select group of JC Players, Thespians direct and produce the Evening of Drama. This year the Evening of Drama consisted of four short plays.

To be eligible for membership in Thespians, one must be a member of JC Players, and earn at least one hundred merits in one semester. The student also must have participated in three out of the five areas of drama, which are committee work, service projects, back stage, on stage and tournaments. To remain a member of Thespians, one must maintain a minimum of fifty merits a semester.

At the end of each semester a formal initiation is held to bring new students into Thespians. They celebrate by going to church and to dinner, as a group.

Thespians Direct Evening of Drama

Evening of Drama, presented by the Thespians, consisted of two comedies and two tragedies. All of the selections were student directed and three were presented in Reader's Theater form.

"Nobody Sleeps", presented as a one-act play was directed by Karen Lahmeyer and Beth Hoskins. The cast included Brian Grandison, Jill Mackey, Mary Herrmann, Anne Jarrett, Sharla Boyce, and Debbie Kullman. This selection was entered in the Rolla Speech and Debate Tournament and received a superior rating.

Terri McLaren and Phyllis Lanza directed "Dark Possession". Members of the cast included Spencer King, Laura Bergman, Tricia Jones, Katie Appleton, Mary Knowles, Melanie McIntire, and Allison Clardy.

Kelly Keefe, Lisa Parrish, Mary Fine, Sandy Braun, John Spalding, Eden Coy, Buddy Gillespie, and Susan Schepker made up the cast of the comedy, "Harvey", directed by Terri Crews and David Hoeltzle.

"Coming Through the Rye", directed by Ruth Ann Heflin and Beth Feeler, consisted of Cathy Potter, Steve Slagle, Sam Wilson, Ken Witherbee, Richard Hall, Kathy Bauer, Marcia Wright, and Beckie Burgess.

Work Study Program Combines Classroom And Job Training

The main objective of the work study program is to help the student become an employable, contributing, independent citizen in the community. The student develops basic work attitudes and skills, including on-the-job experience.

The coordinators at Senior High, Mrs. Malone and Mrs. Zimmerman, give individual counseling in selecting a suitable place of employment. Seniors spend the entire school year working on a full-time basis. This is one of their requirements for graduation.

Classroom work consists of strengthening basic skills such as reading, arithmetic, and language. Students also learn how to manage money and how to maintain their own budgets.

Counselors Provide Guidance for Students

Mrs. Gibbs, one of JC's guidance counselors, said, "Helping kids with academic, vocational, and after-high school programs is one of our major concerns."

The principle aim of the counseling program is the development of each student according to his own particular interests, abilities, and needs; and the assisting in and coordinating of the student's ideas and plans for developing his goals in life.

Last, but not least, is public relations. Just as students represent the school, business is represented by public relations. Advertising affects us each day of our lives and influences our buying power. But without these merchants, the summer jobs they provide, and their products, our lives would not be as comfortable as they are today.

Imagine ourselves surrounded in silence,

As our minds, reliving the moments of the year just passed, drift off into the longing of once again;

It's hard to believe all those pep assemblies and games are over; for four years we've worked as one together trying hard to make JC better.

Now pom pon girls have turned into memories along with the school songs and cheers which, for so long, were a part of us.

The sounds of laughter, Jayettes, and drums have been heard for the last time; now they echo, bringing back the past with a smile.

Special people who have meant so much and shared the smallest instant will be retraced deep within our minds;

Others may fade and some, in time, may be forgotten,
while many will remain untouched, unchanged, deep in our minds.

Friends we grew up with, and new friends made, will drift apart and go their own way, as on our ventures we will depart.

Alone again, left in the tranquility of silence,
we begin on our own,
leaving the shadows of memories behind.

Editor Thanks Staff

The test of time separates the good yearbooks from the bad. A good annual not only brings back memories the day you receive it, but it should also bring the same memories some rainy day many years from now. I sincerely hope the 1973-74 Marcullus has succeeded in recording the year in this way.

Without the help of my dedicated staff, the Marcullus would not be what it is. Each member has done an exceptional job; they have put up with me asking them to "Do it over." Each staff member has added something special to the Marcullus. If just one person were not on the staff, this yearbook would look differently.

The associate editors have been especially dedicated this year. Mary Herrmann, editor of Activities and Sports has, with the help of her staff, covered all the activities and sporting events at JC by choosing good pictures and writing meaningful copy.

This year on the academic pages we used classroom shots for all the teachers. Debbie Miller has made sure all of the pictures were taken, and with the help of her staff, has covered each department.

Claudia Buse, editor of organizations, worked closely with club sponsors and members to make sure all their activities were covered accurately and with interest.

The student section has always been the hardest section to work with, because it can begin to look monotonous. Judy Gentili has added interest to this section by having her staff write essays on interesting topics. There is also a new look in the senior section. Seniors will find their activities on the same page as their picture appears.

Another new look in the Marcullus this year is in the Public Relations section. In order to make the book look more unified, pictures have been used in addition to ad copy. Because this is new, Cathy Ferguson has had to change many of the old price listings, and arrange for many, many pictures. Cathy's staff was also in charge of yearbook sales.

Lu Anne Whitaker has kept the lists for the newest addition to the Marcullus, the index. This addition will make it easier to find on what pages your picture will appear in the book.

Without good pictures you can never have a good yearbook and you can't have good pictures without good photographers. I would like to thank Steve Weston, John DeClue, Tom Davis, Jeff Sanders, Mike Cain, and Mike Winget for their willingness to run around taking pictures, the endless hours in the darkroom, and patience when impossibilities were asked of them. It seems they could always perform the impossible when deadlines were upon us. Without their support there could have been no yearbook. I would also like to thank Mr. Wright for taking our larger group shots on those cold and wet mornings.

Have you ever walked by room 101 around 4:30 or 5:00 in the afternoon and seen Miss Bish still sitting at her desk proofreading, correcting copy or doing any one of the many jobs that must be done in order to have a good yearbook? That is what I call real dedication. It seems as if she has a year-round job; even before this book was out, Miss Bish began working with next year's staff discussing new ideas and making plans. Although she was always there when you needed her with suggestions and possibly a better way of executing your own idea, she never took over and did the work herself.

It's our book. We have worked many long hours, in the hopes that you will always remember the 1973-74 school year.

The letter jacket, Jayette sweater, and high school notebooks fall unnoticed to the back of the closet . . .

It is time now to move on, building upon our high school dreams with the confidence that our goals will be realized . . .

We recognize that our moving on includes a pound of ambition tempered by a pinch of uncertainty, and a pint of reality.
